Structuralism For Beginners:

Structuralism and Poststructuralism For Beginners Donald D. Palmer, 2007-08-21 What is Structuralism How is it possible And once the structures of Structuralism have been discovered how is Poststructuralism possible Thus begins Don Palmer's Structuralism and Poststructuralism For Beginners If Nobel or Pulitzer ever made a prize for making the most difficult philosophers and ideas accessible to the greatest number of people one of the leading candidates would certainly be Professor Don Palmer From his Sartre For Beginners and Kierkegaard For Beginners to his Looking at Philosophy author/illustrator Don Palmer has the magic touch when it comes to translating the most brutally difficult ideas into language and images that non-specialists can understand In its less dramatic versions writes Palmer structuralism is just a method of studying language society and the works of artists and novelists But in its most exuberant form it is a philosophy an overall worldview that provides an account of reality and knowledge Poststructuralism is a loosely knit intellectual movement comprised mainly of ex-structuralists who either became dissatisfied with the theory or felt they could improve it Structuralism and Poststructuralism For Beginners is an illustrated tour through the mysterious landscape of Structuralism and Poststructuralism The book's starting point is the linguistic theory of Ferdinand de Saussure The book moves on to the anthropologist and literary critic Claude Lévi-Strauss the semiologist and literary critic Roland Barthes the Marxist philosopher Louis Althusser the psychoanalyst Jacques Lacan the deconstructionist Jacques Derrida Learn among other things why structuralists say Reality is composed of not Things but Relationships Every object is both a presence and an absence The total system is present in each of its parts The parts are more real than the whole The book concludes by examining the postmodern obsession with language and with the radical claim of the disappearance of the individual obsessions that unite the work of all these theorists

Women Deans Carol Isaac,2007-04-26 The purpose of Professor Isaac s study is to determine how five women leaders from male dominated colleges and five from female dominated fields achieved and maintained their roles Specifically Professor Isaac interviewed these women to examine their definitions of leadership The term leadership metaphorically embodies a gendered division of labor where institutions are dominated by masculine structures This research provides a better understanding of the local context of societal relationships as men do not simply oppress women but women can negotiate power and become leaders

Interviewees were asked questions about their backgrounds and how they use power in their daily lives. Results showed that masculine descriptions of leadership predominated but these women stressed cooperation and service in their own definitions of leadership and were uncomfortable with authoritative power. The interviewees desired to produce power through delegation and shared governance but also controlled power deliberately. Their expressions of power resided in convincing faculty of organizational ownership. Women leaders who avoided aggressive strategies suffered fewer social consequences.
