Term Graph Rewriting M. R. Sleep, M. J. Plasmeijer, Marinus Jacobus Plasmeijer, M. C. J. D. van Eekelen, 1993-06-08 A comprehensive study and exposition on the benefits of graph and term rewriting Contains such theoretical advances as a single pushout categorical model of graph rewriting a new theory of transfinite term rewriting and an abstract interpretation for term graph rewriting Includes a discussion of parallelism

Term Rewriting Systems Terese, 2003-03-20 Term rewriting systems developed out of mathematical logic and are an important part of theoretical computer science They consist of sequences of discrete transformation steps where one term is replaced with another and have applications in many areas from functional programming to automatic theorem proving and computer algebra This 2003 book starts at an elementary level with the earlier chapters providing a foundation for the rest of the work Much of the advanced material appeared here for the first time in book form Subjects treated include orthogonality termination completion lambda calculus higher order rewriting infinitary rewriting and term graph rewriting Many exercises are included with selected solutions provided on the web A comprehensive bibliography makes this book ideal both for teaching and research A chapter is included presenting applications of term rewriting systems with many pointers to actual implementations

Typed Lambda Calculi and Applications Marc Bezem, 1993-03-03 The lambda calculus was developed in the 1930s by Alonzo Church The calculus turned out to be an interesting model of computation and became the prototype for untyped functional programming languages Operational and denotational semantics for the calculus served as examples for other programming languages In typed lambda calculi lambda terms are classified according to their applicative behavior In the 1960s it was discovered that the types of typed lambda calculi are in fact appearances of logical propositions Thus there are two possible views of typed lambda calculi as models of computation where terms are viewed as programs in a typed programming language as logical theories where the types are viewed as propositions and the terms as proofs The practical spin off from these studies are functional programming languages which are mathematically more succinct than imperative programs systems for automated proof checking based on lambda calculi This volume is the proceedings of TLCA 93 the first international conference on Typed Lambda Calculi and Applications organized by the Department of Philosophy of Utrecht University It includes 29 papers selected from 51 submissions

Enno Ohlebusch, 2002-04-12 Unlike current survey articles and textbooks here the so called confluence and termination hierarchies play a key role Throughout the relationships between the properties in the hierarchies are reviewed and it is shown that for every implication $X \rightarrow Y$ in the hierarchies the property X is undecidable for all term rewriting systems satisfying Y Topics covered include the newest techniques for proving termination of rewrite systems a comprehensive chapter on conditional term rewriting systems a state of the art survey of modularity in term rewriting and a uniform framework for term and graph rewriting as well as the first result on conditional graph rewriting
