Blowers, Robin Bryan,2004-05-24 Eager to feed their curiosity with interactive information, children are becoming more responsive to technology, and many now use a mouse more effectively than a crayon. By embracing the possibilities of the Internet, when programming for children, libraries can empower the young with great information while supplementing traditional children's services. These award-winning children's web developers and librarians build their virtual library services starting from the four pillars of children's librarianship: readers advisory, homework reference, help programming, and outreach. Presenting a wide assortment of possibilities, the authors offer guidance, inspiration, and practical direction, complete with sample screen shots, to create appropriate sites for different ages. Develop a project plan including an approach to success, document map, our details with storyboards and flowcharts. Make user experiences easy and fun using mascots, navigation tools, and downloads. Authoritative and comprehensive, this guide provides sample documents and hands-on help on technical issues, usability testing, dealing with online privacy, monitoring, maintaining, promoting, the site testing for

Journalism Research in Practice Robert E. Gutsche, Jr., Bonnie Brennen,2020-11-25

Journalism Research in Practice: Perspectives on Change, Challenges, and Solutions is a unique collection of research on journalism written for journalists and wider audiences. Based on scholarship previously published in Journalism Practice, Journalism Studies, and Digital Journalism, authors have updated and rewritten their works to make connections to contemporary issues. These 28 studies include perspectives on modern-day freelancing, digitization, and partisan influences on the press. They appear in four distinct sections: Addressing Journalism in Times of Social Conflict, Advancements in New Media, and Audience Participation, Challenges and Solutions in a Changing Profession, Possibilities for Journalism and Social Change. This book is a collection by leading scholars from the field of Journalism Studies who have revisited their previous work with the intent of asking more questions about how journalism works and is preparing for the future. From coverage on Donald Trump and alt-right media to media trust, verification, and social media, this volume is relevant for practicing journalists today who are planning for tomorrow.

students learning about the field and its debates and scholars and educators looking for approachable texts about complex issues
