In this outstanding book Susan Strehle argues that a new fiction has developed from the influence of modern physics She calls this new fiction actualism and within that framework she offers a critical analysis of major novels by Thomas Pynchon Robert Coover William Gaddis John Barth Margaret Atwood and Donald Barthelme According to Strehle the actualists balance attention to questions of art with an engaged meditation on the external actual world While these actualist novels diverge markedly from realistic practice Strehle claims that they do so in order to reflect more acutely what we now understand as real Reality is no longer realistic in the new physical or quantum universe reality is discontinuous energetic relative statistical subjectively seen and uncertainly known all terms taken from new physics Actualist fiction is characterized by incompleteness indeterminacy and open endings unsatisfying to the readerly wish for fulfilled promises and completed patterns Gravity's Rainbow for example ends not with a period but with a dash Strehle argues that such innovations in narrative reflect on twentieth century history politics science and discourse     People v. Sociology diagnosed with colon cancer. He undergoes the appropriate medical treatment. Passing through that trajectory, he realizes that things happen that he never read about in the professional literature. During his illness and rehabilitation, he scribbles down notes about what is happening to him, what he is observing, and what things do not tally with his knowledge of the sociological literature. This continuous connection of personal experience with academic literature is what makes this book such a powerful account of the everyday life of a sick person. Recommended to teachers and students in the field of social health research, to everyone who works in health care, professionals as well as volunteers, and to men and women who themselves are experiencing a serious illness.
