Talking Forward Talking Back Critical:

Talking Forward, Talking Back Kevin Lee Cope, Rüdiger Ahrens, 2002 Critical theory is always retrospective when applied to works from earlier periods This text takes a new approach to the challenge of literary theory with respect to eighteenth century studies It looks at the way that literature of the period dealt with the question of the time of criticism

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019-08-13 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods

Reason and Religion in Clarissa Professor E Derek Taylor,2013-04-28 What distinguishes Clarissa from Samuel Richardson s other novels is Richardson s unique awareness of how his plot would end In the inevitability of its conclusion in its engagement with virtually every category of human experience and in its author s desire to communicate religious truth E Derek Taylor suggests Clarissa truly is the Paradise Lost of the eighteenth century Arguing that Clarissa s cohesiveness and intellectual rigor have suffered from the limitations of the Lockean model frequently applied to the novel Taylor turns to the writings of John Norris a well known disciple of the theosophy of Nicolas Malebranche Allusions to this first of Locke s philosophical critics appear in each of the novel s installments and Taylor persuasively documents how Norris s ideas provided Richardson with a usefully un Lockean rhetorical grounding for Clarissa Further the writings of early feminists like Norris s intellectual ally Mary Astell who viewed her arguments on behalf of women as compatible with her conservative and deeply held religious and political views provide Richardson with the combination of progressive feminism and conservative theology that animate the novel In a convincing twist Taylor offers a closely argued analysis of Lovelace s oft stated declaration that he will not be out Norrish d or out plotted by Clarissa showing how the plot of the novel and the plot of all humans exist in the context of Richardson s grand theological experiment within through and by a concurrence of divine energy
