Wainwright Memorial Walk:

Wainwright, 1998 In 1931 the author and three companions walked through the Lake District on such a route that every lake every valley and every mountain would be seen if not actually visited The manuscript consists of five pages of text which is in the ownership of the last surviving member of the walking team The book is mainly photographic but enhanced by Wainwright's own illustrations from his pictorial guides and captions drawn from his text

Why We Run Robin Harvie, 2011-04-14 Everyone can run It is the simplest of sports requiring only a pair of trainers and the open road Its simplicity is part of its beauty But why do we do it Obsessive amateur runner Robin Harvie wants to understand what makes him run mile after mile venturing far from home into remote places and into the solitude of his own mind pushing himself to the limit and beyond Is it to break out of the clutter of his everyday life into a freedom in which he has only himself to rely upon Is it to affirm his own will conquering his fatigue Is it a fundamental instinct inseparable from what it is to be human In examining the lure of long distance running Robin speaks to famous runners explores the literature of running and recounts his own experiences His feats of running culminate in an effort to run the Spartathlon retracing the 150 mile journey from Athens to Sparta made by Philippides in 490BC Part memoir part meditation Why We Run is a compelling rich and haunting account of what it is that makes us take to the road and learn what we are made of
