

6-Step Approach to Stop Work Authority

01

Stop the Work

Any worker, regardless of their role, is encouraged to halt activities as soon as there is a perceived unsafe condition.

02

Notify Others

Inform your supervisor, safety officer, and other affected personnel. Proper communication is important to avoid confusion.

03

Investigate the Issue

A thorough investigation often includes a dynamic risk assessment to evaluate changing conditions that may have led to the unsafe situation.

04

Correct the Hazard

This may involve repairing equipment, clearing dangerous materials, improving worker behavior, or changing procedures.

05

Resume Work

When the hazard has been addressed and safety measures are in place, work can resume. Verify all corrective actions that have been made.

06

Follow-up

This may involve periodic safety checks or additional stop work authority training for workers if the investigation revealed a knowledge gap.
