World Of Perception:

The World of Perception Maurice Merleau-Ponty, 2004-07-31 Painting does not imitate the world but is a world of its own In 1948 Maurice Merleau Ponty wrote and delivered on French radio a series of seven lectures on the theme of perception Translated here into English for the first time they offer a lucid and concise insight into one of the great philosophical minds of the twentieth century These lectures explore themes central not only to Merleau Ponty s philosophy but phenomenology as a whole He begins by rejecting the idea inherited from Descartes and influential within science that perception is unreliable and prone to distort the world around us Merleau Ponty instead argues that perception is inseparable from our senses and it is how we make sense of the world Merleau Ponty explores this guiding theme through a brilliant series of reflections on science space our relationships with others animal life and art Throughout he argues that perception is never something learned and then applied to the world As creatures with embodied minds he reminds us that we are born perceiving and share with other animals and infants a state of constant raw unpredictable contact with the world He provides vivid examples with the help of Kafka animal behaviour and above all modern art particularly the work of Cezanne A thought provoking and crystalline exploration of consciousness and the senses The World of Perception is essential reading for anyone interested in the work of Merleau Ponty twentieth century philosophy and art Phenomenology of Perception Maurice Merleau-Ponty, 1996-01-01 Buddhist philosophy of Anicca impermanence Dukkha suffering and The World as Imagination (series I) Edward Douglas Fawcett, 1916 Psychology John Dewey, 1890 THE WORLD'S GREAT CLASSICS TIMOTHY DWIGHT, D.D. LL.D., 1899 Lotze's System of Philosophy: Metaphysic in three books, ontology, cosmology and psychology Hermann Lotze, 1884 Merleau-Ponty and the Face of the World Glen A. Mazis, 2016-09-21 Assesses Merleau Ponty s contribution to ethics as calling for a poetic interplay between perception and imagination and between silence and solidarity that reveals our place in the world and our obligations to ourselves and others Before his death in 1961 Merleau Ponty worried about what he saw as humanity s increasingly self enclosed and manipulative way of experiencing self others and the world the consequences of which remain apparent in our destructive inability to connect with others within and across cultures In Merleau Ponty and the Face of the World Glen A Mazis provides an overall consideration of Merleau Ponty s philosophy that brings out what he sees as a corrective prescription for ethical reorientation that is fundamental to Merleau Ponty s thought Mazis begins by analyzing the key role that silence plays for Merleau Ponty as a positive powerful presence rather than a lack or emptiness and then builds on this to explore the ethical significance of the face to face encounter in his thought as one of solidarity rather than obligation In the last part of the book Mazis traces the development of what he calls physiognomic imagination in Merleau Ponty s work This understanding of imagination is not fancy or make believe but rather brings out the depths of perceptual meaning and leads to an appreciation of poetic language as the key to revitalizing both ethics and ontology Drawing on Merleau Ponty s published works lecture notes unpublished writings and the work of many phenomenologists and Merleau Ponty scholars Mazis also offers incisive readings of Merleau Ponty s work as it relates to that of Antoine de Saint Exup ry Gaston Bachelard and Emmanuel Levinas The Hibbert Journal Lawrence Pearsall Jacks,George Dawes Hicks,George Stephens Spinks,Lancelot Austin Garrard,H.
