The World of Silence Max Picard,1952     Catholic World ,1922     'Tikkun Olam' —To Mend the World Jason Goroncy,2013-12-04 Tikkun Olam To Mend the World is premised on the conviction that artists and theologians have things to learn from one another things about the complex interrelationality of life and about a coherence of things given and sustained by God The ten essays compiled in this volume seek to attend to the lives burdens and hopes that characterize human life in a world broken but unforgotten in travail but moving towards the freedom promised by a faithful Creator They reflect on whether the world wounded as it is by war by hatred by exploitation by neglect by reason and by human imagination itself can be healed Can there be repair And can art and theology tell the truth of the world s woundedness and still speak of its hope     The World as Imagination (series I) Edward Douglas Fawcett,1916     Hardware World ,1929

The Indian World ,1906     Wireless World ,1929     My World Through My Eyes Nick Chaleunphone,2010-10-14 My poems are all about the things we all see hear feel and experience as human beings Full of emotions and tensions that drive our lives and our existence My poems are about what I experience and feel and what I go through in life     New Catholic World ,1894     Indigenous Education and the Metaphysics of Presence Carl Mika,2017-03-16 Indigenous Education and the Metaphysics of Presence A worlded philosophy explores a notion of education called worldedness that sits at the core of indigenous philosophy This is the idea that any one thing is constituted by all others and is therefore educational to the extent that it is formational A suggested opposite of this indigenous philosophy is the metaphysics of presence which describes the tendency in dominant Western philosophy to privilege presence over absence This book compares these competing philosophies and argues that even though the metaphysics of presence and the formational notion of education are at odds with each other they also constitute each other from an indigenous worlded philosophical viewpoint Drawing on both Maori and Western philosophies this book demonstrates how the metaphysics of presence is both related and opposed to the indigenous notion of worldedness Mika explains that presence seeks to fragment things in the world underpins how indigenous peoples can represent things and prevents indigenous students critics and scholars from reflecting on philosophical colonisation However the metaphysics of presence from an indigenous perspective is constituted by all other things in the world and Mika argues that the indigenous student and critic can re emphasise worldedness and destabilise presence through creative responses humour and speculative thinking This book concludes by positioning well being within education because education comprises acts of worldedness and presence This book will be of key interest to indigenous as well as non indigenous academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education indigenous and Western philosophy political strategy and post colonial studies It will also be relevant for those who are interested in philosophies of language ontology metaphysics and knowledge     From Francophonie to World Literature in French Thérèse Migraine-George,2020-03-01 In 2007 the French newspaper Le Monde published a manifesto titled Toward a World

Literature in French signed by forty four writers many from France s former colonies Proclaiming that the francophone label encompassed people who had little in common besides the fact that they all spoke French the manifesto s proponents the so called francophone writers themselves sought to energize a battle cry against the discriminatory effects and prescriptive claims of francophonie In one of the first books to study the movement away from the term francophone to world literature in French Th r se Migraine George engages a literary analysis of contemporary works in exploring the tensions and theoretical debates surrounding world literature in French She focuses on works by a diverse group of contemporary French speaking writers who straddle continents Nina Bouraoui H l ne Cixous Maryse Cond Marie NDiaye Tierno Mon nembo and Lyonel Trouillot What these writers have in common beyond their use of French is their resistance to the centralizing power of a language their rejection of exclusive definitions and their claim for creative autonomy
