W. Singer,1993-06-18 Examines the borderline between traditional economic theory and the particular problems of developing countries The ethics of redistribution and the impact on the development process of the interaction between national state bureaucracy and international institutions are considered      From Global Poverty to Global Equality Pablo Gilabert,2012-03-29 Do we have positive duties to help others in need or are our moral duties only negative focused on not harming them Are any of the former positive duties duties of justice that respond to enforceable rights Is their scope global Should we aim for global equality besides the eradication of severe global poverty Is a humanist approach to egalitarian distribution based on rights that all human beings as such have defensible or must egalitarian distribution be seen in an associativist way as tracking existing frameworks such as statehood and economic interdependence Are the eradication of global poverty and the achievement of global equality practically feasible or are they hopelessly utopian wishes This book argues that there are basic positive duties of justice to help eradicate severe global poverty that global egalitarian principles are also reasonable even if they cannot be fully realized in the short term and that there are dynamic duties to enhance the feasibility of the transition from global poverty to global equality in the face of nonideal circumstances such as the absence of robust international institutions and the lack of a strong ethos of cosmopolitan solidarity The very notion of feasibility is crucial for normative reasoning but has received little explicit philosophical discussion This book offers a systematic exploration of that concept as well as of its application to global justice It also arbitrates the current debate between humanist and associativist accounts of the scope of distributive justice Drawing on moral contractualism the view that we ought to follow the principles that no one could reasonably reject this book provides a novel defense of humanism challenges several versions of associativism which remains the most popular view among political philosophers and seeks to integrate the insights underlying both views      Encyclopedia of World Poverty Mehmet Odekon,2006 Provides extensive and current information as well as insight into the contemporary debate on poverty and contains over 800 original articles written by more than 125 renowned scholars      Nonviolent Strategies for Today Guy de Mallac,1989      World Poverty and Development Paul A.
