Starwick Episodes:

The Starwick Episodes Thomas Wolfe, Richard S. Kennedy, 1994-08-01 One of the most enduring characters in Thomas Wolfe's fiction is Francis Starwick the Midwestern aesthete who befriends Eugene Grant at Harvard in Wolfe's second autobiographical novel Of Time and the River Wolfe created Starwick in order to provide a foil for the artistic development of Eugene Starwick was the pretentious narrow minded dilettante whose response to the arts is all talk and pose as compared with Eugene who hopes to express in writing his intensity of feeling about all aspects of life While writing the novel however Wolfe found his manuscript proliferating beyond his control and he turned to his editor at Scribner's Maxwell Perkins for help in shaping the final version of the book In the process of organizing the massive manuscript for publication Perkins deleted some of the analyses of Starwick's behavior and several of the episodes involving Eugene and Starwick The result was that the relationship between the two young men was not as fully developed as Wolfe had originally planned Richard S Kennedy discovered these excised passages among the Wolfe papers at Harvard University's Houghton Library In The Starwick Episodes has arranged them sequentially and indicated their position in the original manuscript In one of them Starwick introduces Eugene to Joyce's Ulysses and in another he takes him to view the paintings in Boston Museum of Fine Arts Additional scenes find the two exploring the lower depths of Paris until at length their true sexual natures are revealed in a visit to a Parisian brothel Kennedy's research also uncovered the story of the life of Kenneth Raisbeck the young man whom Wolfe used as the starting point for his fictional creation of Starwick In his Introduction Kennedy describes Raisbeck's career both its brilliant promise and its tragic end and his similarity to the character in the novel The presence of Starwick in Of Time and the River is unforgettable despite the omission of some important scenes that Wolfe wrote for him With the publication now of the deleted episodes readers may gain an enriched sense of Wolfe's fascinating creation and a fuller understanding of what he was trying to convey

The Intellectual in Twentieth-Century Southern Literature Tara Powell, 2012-01-09 Never in its long history has the South provided an entirely comfortable home for the intellectual In this thought provoking contribution to the field of southern studies Tara Powell considers the evolving ways that major post World War II southern writers have portrayed intellectuals from Flannery O'Connor's ironic view of interlockchuls to Gail Godwin's southerners striving to feel at home in the academic world Although Walker Percy like his fellow Catholic writer O'Connor explicitly rejected the intellectual label for himself he nonetheless introduced the modern novel of ideas to southern letters Powell shows by placing sympathetic non caricatured intellectuals at the center of his influential works North Carolinians Doris Betts and her student Tim McLaurin made their living teaching literature and creative writing in academia and Betts's fiction often includes dislocated academics while McLaurin's superb memoirs often funny frequently point up the limitations of the mind as opposed to the heart and the spirit Examining works by Ernest Gaines Alice Walker and Randall Kenan Powell traces the evolution of the black American literacy narrative from a stress on the post Emancipation conviction which saw formal education as an essential means of resisting oppression to the growing suspicion in the post civil rights era of literacy acts that may estrange educated blacks from the larger black community Powell concludes with Godwin who embraces university life in her fiction as she explores what it means to be a southern female intellectual in the modern world a world in which all those markers inscribe isolation Sixteen Modern American Authors Jackson R. Evans, 2020 Born in Asheville North Carolina Thomas Wolfe 1900 1938 was one of the most influential southern writers widely considered to rival his contemporary William Faulkner who believed Wolfe to be one of the greatest talents of their generation His novels including Look Homeward Angel 1929 Of Time and the River 1935 and the posthumously published The Web and the Rock 1939 and You Can't Go Home Again 1940 remain touchstones of U S literature In Look Abroad Angel Jedidiah Evans uncovers the global Wolfe reconfiguring Wolfe's supposedly intractable homesickness for the American South as a form of longing that is instead indeterminate and expansive Instead of promoting and reinforcing a narrow and cloistered formulation of the writer as merely southern or Appalachian Evans places Wolfe in transnational contexts examining Wolfe's impact and influence throughout Europe In doing so he de-territorializes the response to Wolfe's work revealing the writer as a fundamentally global presence within American literature
