Taphonomy A Process Approach:

Taphonomy Ronald E. Martin, 1999-10-28 Taphonomy A Process Approach is the first book to review the entire field of taphonomy or the science of fossil preservation It describes the formation of animal and plant fossils in marine and terrestrial settings and how this affects deciphering the ecology and extinction of past lifeforms and the environments in which they lived The volume emphasises a process approach to taphonomy and reviews the taphonomic behaviour of all important taxa plant and animal It will be useful to anyone interested in the preservation of fossils and the formation of fossil assemblages but it is aimed primarily at advanced students and professionals working in paleontology stratigraphy sedimentology climate modeling and biogeochemistry

High-Resolution Approaches in Stratigraphic Paleontology P.J. Harries, 2008-07-30 This volume delves into a spectrum of theoretical as well as applied aspects of high resolution stratigraphic approaches in paleontology It explores how increasingly detailed knowledge of the fossil record can enhance our understanding of the evolution of life on Earth and also allows geoscientists to address a broad range of important evolutionary and environmental questions in this arena A zipped version of the program CONOP9 2007 along with read me files sample files and other documentation are available via a web site see below An earlier version of CONOP9 was initially supplied with High Resolution Approaches in Stratigraphic Paleontology PJ Harries editor and described in Chapter 13 of that volume This is an updated version of the program and the documentation supplied with this version supersedes the information supplied in that chapter To view the CONOP9 Programs click on the link CONOP9 Programs on the right side of this page under Related links

Paleoecology David J. Bottjer, 2016-02-10 PALEOECOLOGY PALEOECOLOGY Past Present and Future Paleocology is a discipline that uses evidence from fossils to provide an understanding of ancient environments and the ecological history of life through geological time This text covers the fundamental approaches that have provided the foundation for present paleoecological understanding and outlines new research areas in paleoecology for managing future environmental and ecological change Topics include the use of actualism in paleoecology development of paleoecological models for paleoenvironmental reconstruction taphonomy and exceptional fossil preservation evolutionary paleoecology and ecological change through time and conservation paleoecology Data from studies of invertebrates vertebrates plants and microfossils with added emphasis on bioturbation and microbial sedimentary structures are discussed Examples from marine and terrestrial environments are covered with a particular focus on periods of great ecological change such as the Precambrian Cambrian transition and intervals of mass extinction Readership This book is designed for advanced undergraduates and beginning graduate students in the earth and biological sciences as well as researchers and applied scientists in a range of related disciplines
