World Class IT Peter A. High, 2009-12-09 World Class IT Technology is all around us It is so pervasive in our daily lives that we may not even recognize when we interact with it Despite this fact many companies have yet to leverage information technology as a strategic weapon What then is an information technology executive to do in order to raise the prominence of his or her department In World Class IT recognized expert in IT strategy Peter High reveals the essential principles IT executives must follow and the order in which they should follow them whether they are at the helm of a high performing department or one in need of great improvement Principle 1 Recruit train and retain World Class IT people Principle 2 Build and maintain a robust IT infrastructure Principle 3 Manage projects and portfolios effectively Principle 4 Ensure partnerships within the IT department and with the business Principle 5 Develop a collaborative relationship with external partners The principles and associated subprinciples and metrics introduced in World Class IT have been used by IT and business executives alike at many Global 1000 companies to monitor and improve IT's performance Those principles pertain as much to the leaders of IT as they do to those striving to emulate them Serving the American Public Albert Gore, 1996 90

World Development Report 2018 World Bank Group, 2017-10-16 Every year the World Bank's World Development

Report WDR features a topic of central importance to global development The 2018 WDR LEARNING to Realize Education s Promise is the first ever devoted entirely to education And the time is right education has long been critical to human welfare but it is even more so in a time of rapid economic and social change The best way to equip children and youth for the future is to make their learning the center of all efforts to promote education The 2018 WDR explores four main themes First education s promise education is a powerful instrument for eradicating poverty and promoting shared prosperity but fulfilling its potential requires better policies both within and outside the education system Second the need to shine a light on learning despite gains in access to education recent learning assessments reveal that many young people around the world especially those who are poor or marginalized are leaving school unequipped with even the foundational skills they need for life At the same time internationally comparable learning assessments show that skills in many middle income countries lag far behind what those countries aspire to And too often these shortcomings are hidden so as a first step to tackling this learning crisis it is essential to shine a light on it by assessing student learning better Third how to make schools work for all learners research on areas such as brain science pedagogical innovations and school management has identified interventions that promote learning by ensuring that learners are prepared teachers are both skilled and motivated and other inputs support the teacher learner relationship Fourth how to make systems work for learning achieving learning throughout an education system requires more than just scaling up effective interventions Countries must also overcome technical and political barriers by deploying salient metrics for mobilizing actors and tracking progress building coalitions for learning and taking an adaptive approach to reform

Larson,Jeremy Mikhail Kellawan,Øyvind Sandbakk,Bente Morseth ,John Owen Osborne,2024-06-11 Current understanding of physiological characteristics of different populations and responses to environmental stress and exercise is primarily derived from research using male participants Therefore the physiological responses to exercise testing prescription and training in females should be further characterized and explored as does knowledge on female specific health and recovery from exercise Additional female focused research is thus required to develop and enhance our understanding of women s exercise
