SUTER, KAYE STEARMAN, 1988-07-01 Reclaiming the Land The indigenous Aboriginal peoples of Australia once inhabited the whole continent For over 50 000 years their rich and varied culture revolved around the land In 1788 began the white invasion of Australia which destroyed many Aboriginal communities Thousands of Aborigines died of disease from poisons and in frontier wars when their land was stolen and used for agriculture grazing and mining Aboriginal rights were unrecognized in law Two centuries later Aborigines have achieved legal equality But their rights are often disregarded and they suffer massive inequalities in housing education employment and health compared to other Australians They are more likely to be arrested and imprisoned Since 1980 over 100 young Aboriginal men have died while in police custody But the greatest loss has been of land and it is the need to regain and protect the land which has been the impetus behind contemporary Aboriginal political activity a struggle which many Aborigines believe has been betrayed by successive governments In the Northern Territory and South Australia large areas have come under Aboriginal ownership but other states have conceded little or nothing Today an historic High Court judgment has opened the way to a new relationship between Aboriginal and non Aboriginal Australians Aboriginal Australians gives a concise and factual account of the major problems currently facing Aborigines This updated edition traces developments into the 1990s including the Mabo judgment and its consequences A useful and detailed report on a unique people and their fight for justice it should prove an invaluable resource for teachers students the media and all those interested in racism and Australia First Footprints Scott Cane, 2013-10-30 First Footprints tells the extraordinary story of the Aboriginal people of Australia How they made their way out of Africa 60 000 years ago and how they survived across this vast continent from the harsh deserts of the inland to the glaciers of southern Tasmania With photos from the ABC TV series of the same name Some 60 000 years ago a small group of people landed on Australia's northern coast. They were the first oceanic mariners and this great southern land was their new home. Gigantic mammals roamed the plains and enormous crocodiles, giant snakes and goannas nestled in the estuaries and savannahs. First Footprints tells the epic story of Australia's Aboriginal people. It is a story of ancient life on the driest continent on earth through the greatest environmental changes experienced in human history: ice ages, extreme drought and inundating seas. It is chronicled through astonishing archaeological discoveries, ancient oral histories and the largest and oldest art galleries on earth. Australia's first inhabitants were the first people to believe in an afterlife, cremate their dead, engrave representations of the human face and depict human sound and emotion. They created new technologies, designed ornamentation, engaged in trade and crafted the earliest documents of war. Ultimately, they developed a sustainable society based on shared religious tradition and far-reaching social networks across the length and breadth of Australia.

First Australians Marcia Langton, Rachel Perkins, 2012-08. This book is the dramatic story of the collision of two worlds that created contemporary Australia. Told from the perspective of Australia's first people, it vividly brings to life the events that unfolded when the oldest living culture in the world was overrun by the world's greatest empire. Seven of Australia's leading historians reveal the true stories of individuals, both black and white, caught in an epic drama of friendship, revenge, loss and victory in Australia's most transformative period of history. Their story begins in 1788 in Warrane, now known as Sydney, with the friendship between an Englishman, Governor Phillip, and the kidnapped warrior Bennelong. It ends in 1993 with Koiki Mabo's legal challenge to the foundation of Australia.
