Hiebert, 2017-03-16 This book addresses two closely related questions what is the process by which the relatively short and violent genocides of the twentieth century and beyond have occurred Why have these instances of mass violence been genocidal and not some other form of state violence repression or conflict Hiebert answers these questions by exploring the structures and processes that underpin the decision by political elites to commit genocide focusing on a sustained comparison of two cases the Nazi Final Solution and the Cambodian genocide The book clearly differentiates the structures and processes contained within a larger overall process that leads to genocidal violence Uncovering the mechanisms by which societies at least in the contemporary era come to experience genocide as a distinct form of destruction and not some other form of mass or political violence Hiebert is able to highlight a set of key process that lead to specifically genocidal violence Providing an insightful contribution to the burgeoning literature in this area this book will be of interest to students and scholars of genocide international relations and political violence Vietnam's Rural Transformation Benedict J Tria Kerkvliet, 2018-03-05 Since the mid 1980s Vietnam has experienced remarkable economic political and social change This is the first study in English to focus on rural Vietnam where nearly 80 per cent of its people live much of its economic production occurs and political upheavals earlier this century changed the course of history Analyzing the impact of economic liberalization on the countryside the contributors note that despite significant improvements in real income for most rural Vietnamese poverty is still pronounced and socio economic inequality appears to be growing The poorest now appear to have less access to educational and health services Environmental conditions also pose significant problems Highlighting the dynamic political scene in Vietnam the contributors also consider the interplay between national policymaking and local pressures and activity Vietnam Today, Assessing the New Trends International Conference on Vietnam Today, Assessing the New Trends. 1988, Krunder, 1988 Vietnamese Health Care System in Change Kerstin Priwitzer, 2003-08-01 Within the last twenty years a large scale bottom up privatization has taken place in Vietnam changing and dismantling the public health care system This process has led to severe tensions inherent in the transitional society of Vietnam between equity and access to health care support especially for the poor elderly migrants and ethnic minorities on the one hand and its efficiency on the other hand The book traces the reform efforts to modernize the health care system by the Communist Party of Vietnam and the Vietnamese government The author bases her findings on little known primary literature and interviews with key stakeholders of the policy network involved in the reform of the health care system thereby painting an authentic atmospheric picture of the profound changes in the health care system in Vietnam Current Vietnamese Economy Yuangrat Wedel, 1989 Vietnam Population Dynamics and Prospects Judith Banister, 1993 The Vietnam People's Army Daniel Myles FitzGerald, 1989 Consists of an indepth analysis of the regularization of the party military command relationship in Vietnam since 1975 It examines the system of leaders and analyses the effects of Soviet aid and the third Indochina War on the new system Finally it examines the rise in the VPA s professionalism and decline in its party values Vietnam Shelton Woods, 2002-12-16 This book presents an overview of the history geography culture business and economics politics and social issues of Vietnam a Southeast Asian nation America and the Indochina Wars, 1945-1990 Lester H.
