Index to Theses with Abstracts Accepted for Higher Degrees by the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland and the Council for National Academic Awards, 2005 Physical & Health Education Journal, 2005 Canada's magazine for physical and health educators The Free Aceh Movement (GAM) Kirsten E. Schulze, 2004 This paper looks at the Aceh conflict since 1976 and more specifically the insurgent Free Aceh Movement GAM. It aims to provide a detailed ideological and organizational map of this organization in order to increase the understanding of its history, motivations, and organizational dynamics. Consequently, this paper analyzes GAM's ideology, aims, internal structure, recruitment, financing, weapons procurement, and its military capacity. The focus of this study is on the recent past as the fall of Suharto not only allowed the Indonesia government to explore avenues other than force to resolve the Aceh conflict but also provided GAM with the opportunity to make some changes to its strategy and to transform itself into a genuinely popular movement. It will be argued here that the key to understanding GAM in the post-Suharto era and the movement's decisions, maneuvers, and statements during the three years of intermittent dialogue can be found in the exiled leadership's strategy of internationalization. This strategy shows that for GAM the negotiations above all were not a way to find common ground with Jakarta but a means to compel the international community to pressure the Indonesian government into ceding independence. This is the second publication in Policy Studies, a peer-reviewed East West Center Washington series that presents scholarly analysis of key contemporary domestic and international political, economic, and strategic issues affecting Asia in a policy-relevant manner. Aanwinsten van de Centrale Bibliotheek (Queteletfonds) Bibliothèque centrale (Fonds Quetelet), 2004
