Tigerbone Wine Poems:

Tigerbone Wine Hilary Tham, 1992 This collection of poetry reveals the author's wit and sense of irony. The poems about courage and human relationships use imagery and icons from sacred traditions and contemporary Western popular culture. Hilary Tham makes the foreign the other and the past seem accessible and universal. Fermentations and Food Science H. T. Huang, 2000 Amerasia Journal, 1995 Keep the Feast Stephen Cushman, 2022-10-12 Stephen Cushman's Keep the Feast sings in the tradition of the psalmists and devotional poets offering an intimate ecstatic doxology both exultant and indicting spiritual and secular. His poems make prodigious and intrepid forays into the realms of history, sexuality, religious ardor, the imperiled planet, and the reasons for making art. At the heart of this three-part book lies the title poem which takes as a formal model Psalm 119, the longest psalm in the Bible. In luminous verse Cushman's speaker rejoices in the commitments of faith, finding in them a way of living with the paradoxes of twenty-first century life and of holding belief in an often unfathomable world. The Atlantic Monthly James Russell Lowell, James Thomas Fields, William Dean Howells, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Horace Elisha Scudder, Walter Hines Page, Bliss Perry, Ellery Sedgwick, 1977 China 1945 Richard Bernstein, 2015-10-27 At the beginning of 1945 relations between America and the Chinese Communists couldn't have been closer. Chinese leaders talked of America helping to lift China out of poverty. Mao Zedong himself held friendly meetings with U.S. emissaries. By year's end Chinese Communist soldiers were setting ambushes for American marines; official cordiality had been replaced by chilly hostility and distrust, a pattern which would continue for a quarter century with the devastating wars in Korea and Vietnam among the consequences. In China 1945 Richard Bernstein tells the incredible story of the sea change that took place during that year, brilliantly analyzing its far-reaching components and colorful characters from diplomats John Paton Davies and John Stewart Service to Time journalist Henry Luce in addition to Mao and his intractable counterpart Chiang Kai-shek and the indispensable Zhou Enlai. A tour de force of narrative history, China 1945 examines American power coming face to face with a formidable Asian revolutionary movement and challenges familiar assumptions about the origins of modern Sino-American relations. In Blue Silk Girdle Mohammad Abdul Qayyum, 1998 Singaporean Literature in English Mohammad A. Quayum, Peter C. Wicks, 2002 Intoxicating Manchuria Norman Smith, 2012-10-03 In China both opium and alcohol were used for centuries in the pursuit of health and leisure while simultaneously linked to personal and social decline. The impact of these substances is undeniable and the role they have played in Chinese social, cultural, and economic history is extremely complex. In Intoxicating Manchuria Norman Smith reveals how warlord rule, Japanese occupation, and political conflict affected local intoxicant industries. These industries flourished throughout the early twentieth century even as a vigorous anti-intoxicant movement raged. Through the lens of popular Chinese media depictions of alcohol and opium, Smith analyzes how intoxicants and addiction were understood in this society, the role the Japanese occupation of Manchuria played in their portrayal, and the efforts made to reduce opium and alcohol.
