The Voice of Harriet Taylor Mill Jo Ellen Jacobs, 2002-09-05 The Voice of Harriet Taylor Mill is a work about collaboration Harriet's life with her lover friends and members of her family Harriet's joint work with John Stuart Mill and the author's interaction with the reader Jo Ellen Jacobs explores and expands the concept of biography using Salman Rushdie's analogy of history as a process of chutnification She gives Harriet's life shape and form that is to say meaning in a way that will possess the authentic taste of truth In the first chapter the first 30 years of Harriet's life are presented in the format of a first person diary one not actually written by HTM herself The text is based on letters and historical context but the style suggests the intimate experience of reading someone's journal The second chapter continues the chronological account of HTM until her death in 1858 In an interlude between the first and second chapters Jacobs pauses to explore Harriet's life with John Stuart Mill and in the final chapter she argues persuasively that Harriet and John collaborated extensively on many works including On Liberty

Mothering a Bodied Curriculum Stephanie Springgay, Debra Freedman, 2012-02-10 This collection considers how embodiment mothering and curriculum theory are related to practices in education that silence conceal and limit gendered raced and sexual maternal bodies Advancing a new understanding of the maternal body it argues for a bodied curriculum a practice that attends to the relational social and ethical implications of being with other bodies differently and to the different knowledges such bodily encounters produce Contributors argue that the prevailing silence about the maternal body in educational scholarship reinforces the binary split between domestic and public spaces family life and work one's own children and others children and women's roles as mothers or others Providing an interdisciplinary perspective in which postmodern ideas about the body interact with those of learning and teaching Mothering a Bodied Curriculum brings theory and practice together into an ever evolving conversation
