Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Monthly Journal ,1923 The Secretary's Book of Hope Linda Morrow,1986 Recruiting for Uncle Sam David R. Segal,1989 Which citizens have fought America s wars Which ones should fight in the future and how should they be recruited Should military or other national service be an obligation for every citizen David Segal s probing look at the complex issues behind these questions tells us much about the changing manpower needs of our armed forces and about the evolution of civil military relations in the United States Segal analyzes the mobilization contributions and limitations of drafted reservist and volunteer forces from the early days of the republic to the present In the process he shows how Americans have come to separate the benefits of citizenship from service to their country Symptomatic of this separation is the current reliance on an all volunteer military a system that treats military service more as an occupation and opportunity for self advancement than as a civic duty and obligation Drawing on a vast interdisciplinary literature in American history sociology political science and economics Segal illuminates the ways demographics weapons technology international relations scientific management and social policies have all affected the composition of America s armed forces He also shows how the military anticipated and expanded the American welfare system and played a pivotal role in creating better opportunities for minorities and women The capabilities and performance of U S armed forces in future conflicts will depend on a thorough understanding of and informed response to the crucial manpower issues Segal discusses His thoughtful study should be required reading for military professionals and policymakers and will be of interest to anyone concerned about the future of this country s armed forces The Southern Lumberman ,1929 Hardware Dealers' Magazine ,1913 Druggists' Circular ,1927 Hansard's Parliamentary Debates Great Britain.
