The Path Of Action:

The Path of Action Jack Schwarz, 1977-09-20     Reducing Planning Problems by Path Reduction Ulrich Scholz, 2004
Planning is among the characteristic features of intelligence and therefore it is a central research topic of Intellectics since its beginning. Although planning is a very hard task, recent planning systems have achieved an astonishing performance and are applied in various fields. One reason for the success of these systems lies among others in the exploitation of structural properties that are present in many but not all problems. The use of such structural properties therefore leads to a specialization on a class of problems. Their exploitation is often conducted by a preprocessing step, i.e. by the application of a special algorithm prior to the search for a plan. This work identifies and examines the class of c invariants as such a structural property of planning problems. c Invariants are state invariants and are present in many problems of practical interest. Building on the features of c invariants, the dissertation presents path reduction, a preprocessing technique that can significantly simplify planning problems. Finally, the work describes an implementation of path reduction and examines its application.

The Sacred Paths Theodore M. Unique in approach, this text combines an historical, descriptive presentation of individual religions with a comparative, thematic approach. It begins with a discussion of the basic human questions and concerns relating to religion: e.g. origin and identity, ultimate reality, human nature, and the good life, and then uses these essential concepts to help describe the beliefs, practices, and historical development of each religion. As the work of a single scholar, much of it based on original research, this book offers a consistency and depth missing in many of the texts in this field.
