Turquoise Mask:

The Turquoise Mask Phyllis A. Whitney, 1989 Masks of the Spirit Peter T. Markman, Roberta H. Markman, 1989-01-01

Drawing on secondary works in archaeology art history folklore ethnohistory ethnography and literature the authors maintain that the mask is the central metaphor for the Mesoamerican concept of spiritual reality Covers the long history of the use of the ritual mask by the peoples who created and developed the mythological tradition of Mesoamerica Chapters 1 the metaphor of the mask in Pre Columbian Mesoamerica the mask as the God in ritual and as metaphor II metaphoric reflections of the cosmic order and III the metaphor of the mask after the conquest syncretism the Pre Columbian survivals the syncretic compromise and today s masks Over 100 color and black white photos The Teotihuacan Trinity Annabeth Headrick, 2007-12-01 Northeast of modern day Mexico City stand the remnants of one of the world s largest preindustrial cities Teotihuacan Monumental in scale Teotihuacan is organized along a three mile long thoroughfare the Avenue of the Dead that leads up to the massive Pyramid of the Moon Lining the avenue are numerous plazas and temples which indicate that the city once housed a large population that engaged in complex rituals and ceremonies Although scholars have studied Teotihuacan for over a century the precise nature of its religious and political life has remained unclear in part because no one has yet deciphered the glyphs that may explain much about the city s organization and belief systems In this groundbreaking book Annabeth Headrick analyzes Teotihuacan s art and architecture in the light of archaeological data and Mesoamerican ethnography to propose a new model for the city s social and political organization Challenging the view that Teotihuacan was a peaceful city in which disparate groups united in an ideology of solidarity Headrick instead identifies three social groups that competed for political power rulers kin based groups led by influential lineage heads and military orders that each had their own animal insignia Her findings provide the most complete evidence to date that Teotihuacan had powerful rulers who allied with the military to maintain their authority in the face of challenges by the lineage heads Headrick s analysis also underscores the importance of warfare in Teotihuacan society and clarifies significant aspects of its ritual life including shamanism and an annual tree raising ceremony that commemorated the Mesoamerican creation story

Handbook to Life in the Aztec World Manuel Aguilar-Moreno, 2006 Captures the essence of life in great civilizations of the past Each volume in this series examines a single civilization and covers everything from landmark events and monumental achievements to geography and everyday life The Native Races of the Pacific States of North America: Wild tribes. 1874 Hubert Howe Bancroft, 1875 The Gods of Mexico Lewis Spence, 1923 Matrilinial [!] Kinship, and the Question of Its Priority, by E. Sidney Hartland Edwin Sidney Hartland, 1917 The Native Races of the Pacific States of North America: Civilized nations Hubert Howe Bancroft, 1875 The Native Races of the Pacific States of North America Hubert Howe Bancroft, 1875 Conceptualization of 'xihuitl' Mutsumi Izeki, 2008 This study is concerned with how the Postclassic Mexica people developed their unique perspective of history and environment in a dynamic cultural context

By focusing on the process of conceptualization of the Nahuatl word xihuitl the author analyzes the way the Mexica expressed their cognition. Xihuitl covers a range of meanings: turquoise, grass, solar year, comet, preciousness, blue, green, and fire. The correlations of the meanings of xihuitl can be explained from a structural point of view. However, structural analysis does not reveal the dynamic experiential processes that produced such correlations in the minds of the Mexica. In order to account for this dynamic aspect of the concept, the author employs a theory drawn from cognitive science. This theory argues that the meanings and representations of a concept are metaphoric extensions that derive from the central sense of the concept. Applying this theory, the author examines the metaphoric extension of each xihuitl representation from the central sense. The author also analyzes the four media of expression: linguistic, iconographic, material, and ritual, in which representations of xihuitl occur. The representations of xihuitl in each medium embody a particular aspect of the concept. At the same time, the concept as a whole was affected by the Mexica conceptual system, the way the Mexica saw their world rooted in the connections they believed existed between themselves and those who established earlier Central Mexican civilizations.

The Relación de Michoacán (1539-1541) and the Politics of Representation in Colonial Mexico Angélica Jimena Afanador-Pujol, 2015-07-01 The Relación de Michoacán 1539-1541 is one of the earliest surviving illustrated manuscripts from colonial Mexico. Commissioned by the Spanish viceroy Antonio de Mendoza, the Relación was produced by a Franciscan friar together with indigenous noble informants and anonymous native artists who created its forty-four illustrations. To this day, the Relación remains the primary source for studying the pre-Columbian practices and history of the people known as Tarascans or Purhépecha. However, much remains to be said about how the Relación's colonial setting shaped its final form. By looking at the Relación in its colonial context, this study reveals how it presented the indigenous collaborators a unique opportunity to shape European perceptions of them while settling conflicting agendas, outshining competing ethnic groups, and carving a place for themselves in the new colonial society. Through archival research and careful visual analysis, Angélica Afanador Pujol provides a new and fascinating account that situates the manuscript's images within the colonial conflicts that engulfed the indigenous collaborators. These conflicts ranged from disputes over political posts among indigenous factions to labor and land disputes against Spanish newcomers. Afanador Pujol explores how these tensions are physically expressed in the manuscript's production and in its many contradictions between text and images, as well as in numerous emendations to the images. By studying representations of justice, landscape, conquest narratives, and genealogy within the Relación, Afanador Pujol clearly demonstrates the visual
