Imagining New York City Christoph Lindner, 2015 Using examples from architecture film literature and the visual arts Imagining New York City considers how and why certain city spaces the skyline the sidewalk the slum and the subway have come to emblemize key aspects of the modern urban condition Moment to Monument Ladina Bezzola Lambert, Andrea Ochsner, 2015-07-15 Why do certain works of art make it into the canon while others just enjoy a brief moment of recognition if at all How do moments produce monuments and why are monuments erased from our cultural memory in only a moment Taking into account these cultural processes of creating storing remembering and forgetting that are omnipresent and have an immense influence on how we perceive artefacts and cultural events the articles in this collection analyze the phenomenon of cultural production transmission and reception from various angles drawing on approaches from both literary and cultural studies With its transdisciplinary approach this book uniquely responds to an everyday cultural phenomenon that so far has not received such wide ranging attention Globalization, Violence and the Visual Culture of Cities Christoph Lindner, 2009-09-10 This book is the first interdisciplinary volume to examine the complex relationship between globalization violence and the visual culture of cities New Geographies of Abstract Art in Postwar Latin America Mariola V. Alvarez, Ana M. Franco, 2018-09-27 This edited volume examines the history of abstract art across Latin America after 1945 This form of art grew in popularity across the Americas in the postwar period often serving to affirm a sense of being modern and the right of Latin America to assume the leading role Europe had played before World War II Latin American artists practiced gestural and geometric abstraction though the history of art has favored the latter Recent scholarship for instance has focused on geometric abstraction from Argentina Brazil and Venezuela The book aims to expand the map and consider this phenomenon as it developed in neglected regions such as Central America and the Andes investigating how this style came to stand in for Latin American contemporary art Scroope, 2005 Urban India, 2002 Harbourscape Hans Kib, 2007 At the urban scale the harbour is a grandiose meeting between the town and the fjord landscape representing an interesting interface between the local life and the big world Here we still have a great variety of old and new architectural typologies This scenery calls for quality The waterfront is a common gift for all citizens and it has been the gateway for hopes for a better life and a meeting place between tradition and the new In 2005 the Harbourscape Aalborg workshop and conference took place at Aalborg University with the participation of 45 architects engineers and planners from Denmark Norway the Netherlands and the United Kingdom The aim was to develop visionary strategies and design proposals emphasising the concepts of the development and regeneration of the waterfront in Aalborg This book provides a comprehensive presentation of the different methodological approaches and the resulting design concepts The aim has been to investigate a full scale dialogue on concepts and architectural quality in the waterfront development among stakeholders in this process and to illustrate how different design based methods can serve as tools in the said process Harbourscape does not provide architectural solutions to well defined problems and projects It is an eye opener towards new concepts in waterfront development and the use of design based methods in regeneration projects provided by young architects as well as more experienced designers and academics

Waterfront Regeneration Harry C. Smith, Maria Soledad Garcia Ferrari, 2012 Waterfront Regeneration presents a framework to help understand the complexity of waterfront redevelopment as city building It uses this framework to examine how several cities around the North Sea have been experimenting with different approaches to waterfront regeneration over the last decade The book explores how resources regulations and ideas have influenced the redevelopment of these waterfront areas through the creation of new design and development processes the participation of different stakeholders including planners urban designers and architects politicians developers landowners and community groups and the experimentation with innovative design approaches particularly in relation to public spaces The book also offers some reflection on future trends and priorities in waterfront regeneration and redevelopment around the North Sea and worldwide
