Wives Of Alcoholics:

The Other Half Jacqueline Wiseman, 2018-04-20 This current study has emerged from two decades of the author's investigations in related areas alcoholism and domestic relations Its canvas is broadly comparative drawing on interviews and data gathered in the United States and Finland The domestic drama of The Other Half is played out both in the private scene of the home and the more public scene of the workplace and against these two differing national backgrounds Despite the many expected and perceived cultural differences between the countries the effects of alcoholism on the family are shown to be the same Dr Wiseman's study offers theoretical insights gleaned from its perspective on alcoholism as an interactive phenomenon to which the concepts of G H Mead and Blumer can be applied to illuminate the carefully presented data and go beyond them New terrain in studies of alcoholism is thereby explored including such themes as the social construction by the subjects of their husbands drinking their marriage and their self images the strategy of coping mechanisms and the effects of the crisis of alcoholism on gender sex roles and power differentials The Other Half complements Dr Wiseman's prize winning work on the treatment of Skid Row alcoholics Stations of the Lost while involving issues of greater complexity on both the methodological and theoretical plane

Women with Alcoholic Husbands Ramona M. Asher, 2018-02-01 In this important study of women with alcoholic husbands Asher vividly describes the process of coming to terms with a profound crisis in one's private life From interviews with more than fifty women all of whom were participants in family treatment programs she assembles a composite picture of the experiences shared by wives of alcoholics The testimony given by these women illustrates the steps they must take to regain control of their lives The first step is figuring out what is happening and deciding what to do about it Asher argues that the vogue of using the label codependent may actually hinder rather than facilitate emotional health Led to think of themselves as addicted to their husbands' addictions the wives of alcoholics may be persuaded that their own problems can't be overcome But Asher shows these women can take command of their lives Originally published in 1992 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value

The Alcoholic Husband Primer Wren Waters, 2016-06-09 Alcoholism has been called a family disease and yet the family in particular the wife of the alcoholic seems to go unseen by the addiction and recovery communities And what support advice and programs there are for the women married to alcoholics tend to be alcoholic centric The Alcoholic Husband Primer is advice for the wives of alcoholics based on their needs not the needs of the alcoholic It doesn't label women as codependent It doesn't accuse them of being enablers It's real practical everyday advice for the wives of alcoholics written by the wife of an alcoholic sympathetic look at the women and children behind the alcoholic is presented from 15 years of research The Other Half Jacqueline P. Wiseman, 1991 This current study has emerged from two decades of the author's investigations in related areas alcoholism and domestic relations Its canvas is broadly comparative drawing on interviews and data gathered in the United States and Finland The domestic drama of The Other Half is played out both in the private scene of the home and the more public scene of the workplace and against these two differing national backgrounds Despite the many expected and perceived cultural differences between the countries the effects of alcoholism on the family are shown to be the same Dr Wiseman's study offers theoretical insights gleaned from its perspective on alcoholism as an interactive phenomenon to which the concepts of G H Mead and Blumer can be applied to illuminate the carefully presented data and go beyond them New terrain in studies of alcoholism is thereby explored including such themes as the social construction by the subjects of their husbands drinking their marriage and their self images the strategy of coping mechanisms and the effects of the crisis of alcoholism on gender sex roles and power differentials The Other Half complements Dr Wiseman's prize winning work on the treatment of Skid Row alcoholics Stations of the Lost while involving issues of greater complexity on both the methodological and theoretical plane A Fallen Angel Florence Ridlon, 1988 An analysis of the literature and of the author's own research on female alcoholics that uses the concept of status insularity to expand labeling theory within the field of the sociology of deviance Wives of Alcoholics Marie Schutt, 1985 Leaving 101 Wren Waters, 2017-05-25 Wren Waters knows that most women who are married to alcoholics live in the constant mental state of should I stay I need to leave As the days turn into months the months into years no decision becomes a tragic decision When a woman finally looks up from the years lost to trying to mitigate life with a compulsive drinking she often feels it's too late Too late to be happy Too late to embrace her life Too late to live her dreams Leaving 101 is not about leaving today tomorrow or necessarily at all It's about arresting the erosion of your soul that is the eventual by product of living with someone else's alcoholism It's about learning to live more consciously rather than reactively so that you regain control and power in your own life It's about working to create a life that one day makes it your choice as to whether you stay or go Social Aspects of Alcoholism Benjamin Kissin, Henri Begleiter, 2013-06-29 The first three volumes of this series have dealt with materials which generally justify the title The Biology of Alcoholism This is only remotely true of the present volume Social Aspects of Alcoholism or of the final volume to come Treatment and Rehabilitation Except for small portions of the treatment section which involve pharmacotherapy much of these last two volumes deals with the psychological aspects of alcoholism and still more with the social It is interesting to review the evolution of this new pattern over the past seven years a pattern which had it existed initially would have resulted if not in a different format at least in a different title Our initial selection of areas to be covered was influenced by our desire to present as hard data as possible in an attempt to lend a greater aura of scientific rigor to a field which was generally considered as soft When we completed our review of this material in volumes 1-3 we recognized that what we might have gained in rigor we had more than lost in completeness These volumes presented a picture of a biological disease syndrome for which the remedies and preventive measures were presumably also biological And yet most workers in the field readily accept the significant contributions of psychological and social factors to the pathogenesis and treatment of alcoholism frequently resort to alcohol as a form of liquid courage and inwardly panic when their wives first ask the question Honey do you think you might be starting to drink too much Times of economic uncertainty and stress bring out the worst in some men Male substance and alcohol abuse as well as domestic violence increases dramatically as men struggle with threats of layoffs and the pressures of working harder to make up for those workers already let go Wives are often on the receiving end of husbands drinking themselves numb as a way of dealing with job and financial stressors Hope for the Wife of an Alcoholic while initially written for psychotherapists and substance abuse counselors has over the years also proven useful as a self help book for wives and family members of alcohol or substance abusing men
