Urban Exodus:

Urban Regeneration Peter Roberts, Peter W. Roberts, Hugh Sykes, 2000-02-11 Providing students and practitioners with a detailed overview of the key theoretical and applied issues this book is a comprehensive and integrated primer on regeneration The various chapters review the history and context of urban regeneration consider funding implications look at environmental social and community issues as well as employment education and training focus on managing urban regeneration consider land use issues and discuss monitoring and evaluation The book concludes with a comparative analysis with examples from America and Europe and a discussion of future trends The book represents the first systematic overview of urban regeneration in one volume and is set to become the standard reference Urban Transformation and Urban Governance Boddy, Martin, 2003-10-29 Urban renewal sustainable development the contribution of our towns and cities to economic competitiveness along with continuing concerns over social cohesion present major challenges for policy makers This study presents information and analysis focused directly on these challenges Ad Hoc Urban Sprawl in the Mediterranean City Vittorio Gargiulo Morelli, Luca Salvati, 2010 Urban Origins of American Judaism Deborah Dash Moore, 2014 The urban origins of American Judaism began with daily experiences of Jews their responses to opportunities for social and physical mobility as well as constraints of discrimination and prejudice Deborah Dash Moore explores Jewish participation in American cities and considers the implications of urban living on American Jews across three centuries Looking at synagogues streets and snapshots she contends that key features of American Judaism can be understood as an imaginative product grounded in urban potentials Jews signaled their collective urban presence through synagogue construction which represented Judaism on the civic stage Synagogues housed Judaism in action its rituals liturgies and community while simultaneously demonstrating how Jews Judaized other aspects of their collective life including study education recreation sociability and politics Synagogues expressed aesthetic aspirations and translated Jewish spiritual desires into brick and mortar Their changing architecture reflects shifting values among American Jews Concentrations of Jews in cities also allowed for development of public religious practices that ranged from weekly shopping for the Sabbath to exuberant dancing in the streets with Torah scrolls on the holiday of Simhat Torah Jewish engagement with city streets also reflected Jewish responses to Catholic religious practices that temporarily transformed streets into sacred spaces This activity amplified an urban Jewish presence and provided vital contexts for synagogue life as seen in the captivating photographs Moore analyzes Reforming Urban Labor Janet L. Polasky, 2011-06-15 Reforming Urban Labor is a history of the nineteenth century social reforms designed by middle class progressives to domesticate the labor force Industrial production required a concentrated labor force but the swelling masses of workers in the capitals of Britain and Belgium the industrial powerhouses of Europe threatened urban order At night after factories had closed workers and their families sheltered in the shadowy alleyways of Brussels and London Reformers worked to alleviate the danger dispersing the laborers and their families throughout the suburbs and the countryside National governments subsidized rural housing construction and regulated workmen s trains to transport laborers nightly away from their urban work sites and to bring them back again in the mornings municipalities built housing in the suburbs On both sides of the Channel respectable working families were removed from the rookeries and isolated from the marginally employed planted out beyond the cities where they could live like but not with the middle classes In Janet L Polasky s urban history comparisons of the two capitals are interwoven in the context of industrial Europe as a whole Reforming Urban Labor sets urban planning against the backdrop of idealized rural images links transportation and housing reform investigates the relationship of middle class reformers with industrial workers and their families and explores the cooperation as well as the competition between government and the private sector in the struggle to control the built environment and its labor force Reclaiming Public Housing Lawrence J. Vale,2002 Lawrence Vale explores the rise fall and redevelopment of three public housing projects in Boston Vale looks at these projects from the perspectives of their low income residents and assesses the contributions of the design professionals who helped to transform these once devastated places during the 1980s and 1990s People Get Ready Susan Bigelow Reynolds,2023-01-17 WINNER COLLEGE THEOLOGY SOCIETY 2024 BEST BOOK AWARD What does it mean to be a community of difference St Mary of the Angels is a tiny underground Catholic parish in the heart of Boston s Egleston Square More than a century of local national and international migrations has shaped and reshaped the neighborhood transforming streets into borderlines and the parish into a waystation Today the church sustains a community of Black Caribbean Latin American and Euro American parishioners from Roxbury and beyond In People Get Ready Susan Reynolds draws on six years of ethnographic research to examine embodied ritual as a site of radical solidarity in the local church Weaving together archived letters oral histories stories photographs newspaper articles and newly examined archdiocesan documents Reynolds traces how the people of St Mary s constructed rituals of solidarity as a practical foundation for building bridges across difference She looks beyond liturgy to unexpected places from Mass announcements to parish council meetings from the Good Friday Via Crucis through neighborhood streets to protests staged in and around the church in the wake of Boston s 2004 parish shutdowns Through ethnography and Catholic ecclesiology Reynolds argues for a retrieval of Vatican II s notion of ecclesial solidarity as a basis for the mission of the local church in an age of migration displacement and change It is through the work of ritual the story of St Mary s reveals that we learn to negotiate the borders in our midst to cultivate friendships exercise power build peace and in a real way to survive Urban Exodus Gerald Gamm,2001-03-16 Across the country white ethnics have fled cities for suburbs But many have stayed in their old neighborhoods When the busing crisis erupted in Boston in the 1970s Catholics were in the forefront of resistance Jews 70 000 of whom had lived in Roxbury and Dorchester in the early 1950s were invisible during the crisis They were silent because they departed the city more quickly and more thoroughly than Boston s Catholics Only scattered Jews remained in Dorchester and Roxbury by the mid 1970s In telling the story of why the Jews left and the Catholics stayed Gerald Gamm places neighborhood institutions churches synagogues community centers schools at its center He challenges the long held assumption that bankers and real estate agents were responsible for the rapid Jewish exodus Rather according to Gamm basic institutional rules explain the strength of Catholic attachments to neighborhood and the weakness of Jewish attachments Because they are rooted territorially defined and hierarchical parishes have frustrated the urban exodus of Catholic families And because their survival was predicated on their portability and autonomy Jewish institutions exacerbated the Jewish exodus Gamm shows that the dramatic transformation of urban neighborhoods began not in the 1950s or 1960s but in the 1920s Not since Anthony Lukas's Common Ground has there been a book that so brilliantly explores not just Boston's dilemma but the roots of the American urban crisis The Contemporary Review, 1918 The Industrial Decline in India M. A. Balkrishna, 1917 First Advice to Would-be Farmers Frederick Ernest Green, 1919 Urban Society Fred Siegel, 1999 This informative anthology provides convenient inexpensive access to a wide range of current carefully selected articles from some of the most respected newspapers magazines and journals published today Some issues discussed are urban economies urban policies and politics and urban problems Additional support can be found at our student Web site Dushkin Online www.dushkin.com online for this Annual Editions title The Future of Rural Society Commission of the European Communities, 1988 The Land Union Journal Land Union, 1914 Migration and Socioeconomic Change Anthony Gerard Champion, 2007 Migration and socioeconomic change brings new evidence to debates on urban regeneration in Britain are we seeing urban renaissance or is there city flight This study examines 27 of the largest cities and city regions to find out whether they attract the talented people that they need to prosper By examining the migration data of the 2001 Census of population Britain's most and least successful cities are identified There is also a look at more local population movements within the city regions of London Birmingham and Bristol Four key findings stand out cities losing population included all the large conurbations plus most small cities in the North and West London stood out in attracting many higher managerial and professional people and especially recent graduates cities making strong gains from longer distance movement mostly had growing local job numbers plus some key quality of life characteristics and some cities attracting few longer distance migrants also lose many migrants more locally threatening their tax base and housing markets The study gives much new information for urban and regional students and researchers while the findings on individual cities can help target urban regeneration policies T. P.'s Weekly Thomas Power O'Connor, Holbrook Jackson, 1907 Life and Work in Modern Europe Georges François Renard, Georges Weulersse, 1926 The Whim, 1901 The Social Democrat, 1898 Straight Answers to Life Questions Copeland Smith, 1928
