Hume's Problem Solved Gerhard Schurz, 2019-05-07 A new approach to Hume's problem of induction that justifies the optimality of induction at the level of meta induction Hume's problem of justifying induction has been among epistemology's greatest challenges for centuries In this book Gerhard Schurz proposes a new approach to Hume's problem Acknowledging the force of Hume's arguments against the possibility of a noncircular justification of the reliability of induction Schurz demonstrates instead the possibility of a noncircular justification of the optimality of induction or more precisely of meta induction the application of induction to competing prediction models Drawing on discoveries in computational learning theory Schurz demonstrates that a regret based learning strategy attractivity weighted meta induction is predictively optimal in all possible worlds among all prediction methods accessible to the epistemic agent Moreover the a priori justification of meta induction generates a noncircular a posteriori

justification of object induction Taken together these two results provide a noncircular solution to Hume s problem Schurz discusses the philosophical debate on the problem of induction addressing all major attempts at a solution to Hume s problem and describing their shortcomings presents a series of theorems accompanied by a description of computer simulations illustrating the content of these theorems with proofs presented in a mathematical appendix and defends refines and applies core insights regarding the optimality of meta induction explaining applications in neighboring disciplines including forecasting sciences cognitive science social epistemology and generalized evolution theory Finally Schurz generalizes the method of optimality based justification to a new strategy of justification in epistemology arguing that optimality justifications can avoid the problems of justificatory circularity and regress NASA Tech Brief United States.
