Proceedings of the Ninth Conference on Quantum Field Theory Under the Influence of External Conditions (QFEXT09) Kimball A. Milton, Michael Bordag, 2010 QFEXT is the leading international conference held every two years highlighting progress in quantum vacuum energy phenomena the Casimir effect and related topics both experimentally and theoretically Most of the key players in the field are expected to be present Thus the proceedings will be the definitive source of information on this field which is playing an increasingly important role in nanotechnology and in understanding fundamental issues in physics such as renormalization and in the search for new physics such as fifth forces and dark energy. Proceedings of previous conferences in this series have been important and like the conferences they summarize have led to major progress in the two subsequent years. This is because the fundamental aspects of quantum field theory applications of all branches of physics, chemistry, nanoscience, and astrophysics, mathematical and experimental techniques described have wide applications, and all leading groups and scientists working in this field will be represented. Volume 13: Kierkegaard's Influence on the Social Sciences Jon Stewart, 2016-12-05

Kierkegaard has long been known as a philosopher and theologian, but his contributions to psychology, anthropology, and sociology have also made an important impact on these fields. In many of the works of his complex authorship, Kierkegaard presents his intriguing and unique vision of the nature and mental life of human beings, individually and collectively. The articles featured in the present volume explore the reception of Kierkegaard's thought in the social sciences. Of these fields, Kierkegaard is perhaps best known in psychology, where The Concept of Anxiety and The Sickness unto Death have been the two most influential texts. With regard to the field of sociology, social criticism or social theory, Kierkegaard's Literary Review of Two Ages has also been regarded as offering valuable insights about some important dynamics of modern society.

The Influence of Teacher-Student Relationships and Feedback on Students' Engagement with Learning Roger Wood, 2018-06-11

This book presents a potential hierarchy between the three basic psychological needs central to Self-Determination Theory (SDT). Findings from the author's research suggest that the motivation to exercise autonomy is an outcome that is cumulatively influenced by the perceived quality of the teacher-student relationship and students' perceived competence within specific learning contexts and with a specific teacher. These findings are the basis for three hypotheses regarding students' motivation to engage with learning activities. The first is that perceived competence is informed by and reciprocally informs the quality of the teacher-student relationship. The second is that students' perceived competence and the quality of the teacher-student relationship have a combined impact upon students' autonomous motivation. The final point is that a teacher can be autonomy-supportive both prior to and during activities where students have opportunities to exercise their autonomy. Such autonomy support includes the influence of teacher feedback upon students' perceived competence and their subsequent motivation to autonomously engage with learning activities. This research begins to unravel such motivational interplay through an SDT-informed model which is used as the basis for discussing the specific influence of teacher feedback and autonomy support upon students' engagement with learning activities in formal learning settings. The findings and model are worthy of further testing and development as part of the wider agenda of student engagement, wellbeing, and positive psychology prevalent in educational research, education psychology, and the philosophy of social motivation.
