Tracking Nuclear Proliferation Leonard S. Spector, Mark G. McDonough, Evan S. Medeiros, 1995 FROST Copy 2 From the John Holmes Library Collection Nuclear Proliferation in South Asia Sumit Ganguly, S. Paul Kapur, 2008-08-06 This edited volume explores competing perspectives on the impact of nuclear weapons proliferation on the South Asian security environment The spread of nuclear weapons is one of the world's foremost security concerns The effect of nuclear weapons on the behaviour of newly nuclear states and the potential for future international crises are of particular concern As a region of burgeoning economic and political importance South Asia offers a crucial test of proliferation's effects on the crisis behaviour of newly nuclear states This volume creates a dialogue between scholars who believe that nuclear weapons have stabilized the subcontinent and those who believe that nuclear weapons have made South Asia more conflict prone It does so by pairing competing analyses of four major regional crises the 1987 Brasstacks crisis the Indo Pakistani crisis of 1990 the 1999 Kargil war which occurred after the nuclear tests and the 2001-2 Indo Pakistani militarized standoff In addition the volume explores the implications of the South Asian nuclear experience for potential new nuclear states such as North Korea and Iran Future War and Counterproliferation Barry R. Schneider, 1999-02-28 The United States faces a small number of rogue states that either have or are working to acquire weapons of mass destruction These NASTIs or NBC Arming Sponsors of Terrorism and Intervention include such states as North Korea Iraq Iran Libya and Syria U S nonproliferation programs and policies have helped to keep this number small but U S and allied counterproliferation programs are essential to reduce the danger It is up to deterrence active defenses passive defenses decontamination and counterforce to turn enemy weapons of mass destruction into instruments of limited destructive effect Warfighters will also have to adopt a different strategy and concept of operations in fighting an adversary that is so heavily armed This strategy will feature a combination of deception dispersion mobility and maneuver diffused logistics remote engagement missile defense bubbles non combatant evacuation operations and large area decontamination It will also involve upgrades to NBC passive defense measures and equipment as well as a counterforce capability that can find and destroy a variety of adversary targets including mobile launchers and deeply buried and hardened underground structures Assessing Democracy Assistance Thomas Carothers, 2013-01-25 In recent years assistance aimed at promoting democracy abroad has become a major component of U S foreign aid and of the U S government's post Cold War policy of seeking to enlarge the international community of democratic nations Despite its rapid growth however democracy assistance remains poorly understood in practice and its value is frequently questioned This landmark study an examination of U S democracy assistance efforts in Romania is the first comprehensive analysis of the workings and failings of U S democracy assistance in one country Based on the author's extensive field research the study provides widely applicable answers to key questions about the value strategies methods and future of such assistance Tracking Nuclear Proliferation Rodney W. Jones, Mark G. McDonough, 1998 This is the seventh survey in the Carnegie

Endowment's series on nuclear proliferation prepared under the direction of Carnegie Endowment senior associate Leonard S. Spector. This new assessment again offers the most recent available data on key developments in 17 nations of proliferation concern.

Moscow DMZ: The Story of the International Effort to Convert Russian Weapons Science to Peaceful Purposes
Glenn E. Schweitzer, 2016-09-16
As the Soviet Union was collapsing in late 1991, reports began to reach the West about agents shopping for weapons systems and weapons scientists in the beleaguered Soviet military industrial complex. In response, the United States, the European Community, and Japan, in cooperation with the Russian government, created a program to reemploy Soviet scientific personnel in civilian projects dealing with the legacy of the Soviet system: a polluted environment, unsafe nuclear power facilities, and economic underdevelopment. In this fascinating first-person account, the American environmental scientist who led the effort to establish the International Science and Technology Center in Moscow tells the diplomatic, scientific, and human story behind a remarkable post-Cold War conversion initiative.

Cascade of Arms
Andrew J. Pierre, 1997-11-01
With the post-cold war emphasis on the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, the neglected dimension has been the spread of advanced conventional arms. Yet these are the arms most likely to be used in conflict. They present the greatest diversion from economic and social development and are the centerpiece of regional security balances. This book examines the policies and practices of the major arms supplying nations, looks at the impact of weapons purchases on the principal recipient regions, and the possibilities for regional arms control, and dissects the economics of arms exports for the producer nations in both the developing and industrialized worlds. The book thoroughly discusses the opportunities for and obstacles to achieving multilateral restraint on arms. In addition to the editor, contributors are Ian Anthony (Stockholm International Peace Research Institute), Nicole Ball (Overseas Development Council), Julian Cooper (University of Birmingham), Lawrence Freedman and Martin Navias (King's College London), Rodney Jones (Policy Architects International), Ethan Kapstein (University of Minnesota), Michael Klare (Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies), Andrew Mack (Australian National University), Abdel Monem Said Aly (Center for Political and Strategic Studies, Cairo), Janne Nolan (Brookings Institution), Andrew Ross (Naval War College), Gerald Segal (International Institute for Strategic Studies), and Gerald Steinberg (Bar Ilan University, Israel). Copublished with the World Peace Foundation.

Global Society in Transition: An International Politics Reader
Daniel N. Nelson, Laura Neack, 2002-05-13
International Politics: A Journal of Transnational Issues and Global Problems has since 1997 published an extraordinary array of path-breaking analyses about the world's political metamorphosis. Featuring scholarship that transcends boundaries of states and disciplines, International Politics editors and contributors have joined to assemble from the journal's last few volumes a far-reaching portrait of new actors, identities, norms, and institutions that populate a stage once confined to states, power, and national interests. Further interventions to build states, make or keep the peace, impose sanctions, or save currencies are examined, as are the institutional enlargements at the forefront of policy in Europe. This book offers a wealth of policy-relevant scholarship about a world in making not yet detached from Cold War or even Westphalian roots but certainly in process towards a qualitatively different global system All published after rigorous peer review chapters in Global Society in Transition will provide comparative politics international relations and world affairs courses at undergraduate and graduate level with instant access to the best of new research and innovative thinking in these fields Consequences of China's Military Sales to Iran United States. Congress. House. Committee on International Relations,1996 U.S. Naval Institute Proceedings United States Naval Institute,1995 Disarmament ,1995 Bibliographie Mensuelle. Partie I, Livres, Documents Officiels, Publications en Série United Nations Library (Geneva, Switzerland),1995 Future Legal Restraints on Arms Proliferation United Nations,1996 The Cumulative Book Index ,1996 A world list of books in the English language Nuclear India Jasjit Singh,Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses,1998 India s nuclear tests on May 11 13 1998 ended the country s three decade old self imposed restraint on its emergence as a nuclear power India announced that it was now a nuclear weapon state A new phase in India s security calculus therefore has begun This volume attempts to explore and explain the whole range of issues related to Nuclearisation in order to extrapolate logical policy positions that the country would need to evolve at various levels Journal of the Third World Spectrum ,1998 Newsbrief ,1995 Europe in the Balance Christoph Bertram,1995 From the John Holmes Library collection Crosscurrents Mark Charlton,1999 Is international peacekeeping doomed to fail Does economic globalization advance the cause of human rights Does the United Nations need a radical overhaul With 18 new issues and 38 new thought provoking discussions by leading academics journalists politicians and activists the second edition of this text continues to provide an in depth look at current issues that brings to life the concepts and theories of international relations and turns classrooms into forums for debate and discussion India and the Bomb David Cortright,Amitabh Mattoo,1996 In 1994 the Joan B Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies in cooperation with the Fourth Freedom Forum conducted the most comprehensive survey to date of the Indian public s attitude toward nuclear arms This book examines the findings of that landmark survey
