Observatories in Earth Orbit and Beyond Y. Kondo, 2012-12-06 When I became President of International Astronomical Union Commission 44 for the triennial period 1985-1988 several members of the Organizing Committee and I agreed that it would be a good idea for our Commission to host a conference on observatories in space in view of their increasingly important role in astronomical research IAU Colloquium Number 123 Observatories in Earth Orbit and Beyond is the first colloquium sponsored by IAU Commission 44 on Astronomy from Space although Commission 44 has co-sponsored numerous colloquia and symposia in the past The past two decades have seen a flourishing of astronomical observatories in space Over a dozen orbiting observatories have opened up a new window on the universe providing hitherto unavailable data in the electromagnetic spectral range from gamma ray X ray ultraviolet to infrared and radio This has clearly demonstrated the crucial nature of astronomical observations from space The invited talks of present colloquium consist primarily of reviews of currently operating observatories in space future observatories that have been approved by sponsoring government or space agencies the launch systems of USA USSR and Japan discussions of various orbits and sites such as the Moon and alternate approaches in designing space observatories Several panel discussions addressed those issues as well as the major unsolved problems of astronomy Contributed poster papers included descriptions of space observatories that are in planning stage

Working in Orbit and Beyond David B. Lorr, Victoria Garshnek, 1989 This book is based on the course entitled Working in orbit and beyond the challenges for space medicine The objective of the program was to increase the medical community's awareness of the problems and solutions particular to space medicine and to facilitate the dissemination of this information to other interested personnel
