Chips Challenging Champions H.J. van den Herik, 2002-05

One of the earliest dreams of the fledgling field of artificial intelligence AI was to build computer programs that could play games as well as or better than the best human players

Despite early optimism in the field the challenge proved to be surprisingly difficult

However the 1990s saw amazing progress

Computers are now better than humans in checkers Othello and Scrabble are at least as good as the best humans in backgammon and chess and are rapidly improving at hex go poker and shogi

This book documents the progress made in computers playing games and puzzles

The book is the definitive source for material of high performance game playing programs

The AI Delusion Gary Smith, 2018-08-22

We live in an incredible period in history

The Computer Revolution may be even more life changing than the Industrial Revolution

We can do things with computers that could never be done before and computers can do things for us that could never be done before

But our love of computers should not cloud our thinking about their limitations

We are told that computers are smarter than humans and that data mining can identify previously unknown truths or make discoveries that will revolutionize our lives

Our lives may well be changed but not necessarily for the better

Computers are very good at discovering patterns but are useless in judging whether the unearthed patterns are sensible because computers do not think the way humans think

We fear that super intelligent machines will decide to protect themselves by enslaving or eliminating humans

But the real danger is not that computers are smarter than us but that we think computers are smarter than us and so trust computers to make important decisions for us

The AI Delusion explains why we should not be intimidated into thinking that computers are infallible that data mining is knowledge discovery and that black boxes should be trusted
