Stavrianos, 1971 World History, Since 1500 Jiu-Hwa Upshur, Janice J. Terry, 1998 As a global text Upshur s WORLD HISTORY examines world civilizations in a comparative context such that students learn to recognize and analyze trends and interconnections across history and civilizations Volume II is a paperback version of Chapters 9 17 The Face of the Earth J. Donald Hughes, 2015-05-11 Although the organizing principle of virtually every world history text is development the editor of this volume maintains that this traditional approach fails to address the issue of sustainability By adopting the ecological process as their major theme the authors show how the process of human interaction with the natural environment unfolded in the past and offer perspective on the ecological crises in our world at the beginning of the 21st century Topics range from broad regional studies that examine important aspects of the global environment that affect nations to a study of the widespread influence of one important individual on his nation and beyond The authors take different approaches but all share the conviction that world history must take ecological process seriously and they all recognize the ways in which the living and non living systems of the earth have influenced the course of human affairs Primary Sources in World History James Farr, Patrick J. Hearden, 2023-03-13 This two volume collection of primary documents covers societies that developed writing systems in different geographical regions during that last 5 000 years While comprehensive in scope this reader focuses on a central theme the unequal allocation of wealth and power both within individual societies and between different polities ranging from small city states to large territorial empires The documents reveal that people living at different times and in different places have used similar methods to achieve similar political and economic objectives By reflecting uniformities as well as diversities in ideas and actions these documents undermine assertions of Western intellectual cultural or moral superiority These readings also show that the expanding supply of goods and services resulting from technological innovations has led to increasing social economic and political racial and gender inequality Selected to give students a deeper understanding of how and why inequalities have emerged in societies around the globe each document will be introduced by a brief explanation of its historical context And each document presented in chronological order will be followed by 3 or 4 review questions giving students an opportunity to test their understanding of its main points

The New World History Ross E. Dunn, Laura J. Mitchell, Kerry Ward, 2016-08-23 The New World History is a comprehensive volume of essays selected to enrich world history teaching and scholarship in this rapidly expanding field The forty four articles in this book take stock of the history evolving literature and current trajectories of new world history These essays together with the editors introductions to thematic chapters encourage educators and students to reflect critically on the development of the field and to explore concepts approaches and insights valuable to their own work The selections are organized in ten chapters that survey the history of the movement the seminal ideas of founding thinkers and today s practitioners changing concepts of world historical space and time comparative methods environmental history the big history movement globalization debates over the meaning of Western power and ongoing questions about the intellectual premises and assumptions that have shaped the field
