Managing Distribution Channels in 4 to 5 Star Hotels in Austri Patrick Kullmann, 2007-07 Diploma Thesis from the year 2003 in the subject Hotel Industry Catering grade 1 5 Ecole h teli re de Lausanne 107 entries in the bibliography language English comment 1 5 dt Notensystem entspricht in der Schweiz der Note 5 5 abstract This study summarises relevant literature on traditional and online distribution channels and gives an insight in the management of hotel s room reservation processing as well as potential consequences of intrinsic service failures Since it was assumed that differences in distribution channel treatment do exist in hotels investigation was focused on telephone and e mail reservation channels as the ones with the strongest utilization rates Therefore hypotheses were formulated to undertake research on both channels in comparison to room reservation transformation rates frequency of focal points of service failures and the potential influence of category size and location as specific hotel characteristics In order to carry out the investigation an online questionnaire was established in co operation with university and industry room reservation professionals The actual study focused on the Austrian three to five star hotel segments since these categories were expected to provide all relevant investigated communication channels The aim was to find comparable results to Swiss figures Therefore a sample of 800 hotels was contacted 89 hotels or 11.4 per cent replied in total The statistical analysis pointed out that the telephone channel tends to be still slightly more efficient than the e mail A correlation with hotel characteristics showed that location did influence channel s efficiency rates among the investigated hotels These results indicated that hotels in big cities had higher room transformation rates on average than properties in resort destinations or any other location Category as well as number of guest rooms did not provide significant dependence on this transformation ratio In contrast to Midland Hotel Corporation V.
