Working Forest Selected Prose:

A Working Forest Les A. Murray, 1997 This is the first selection from all Les Murray's prose to be published in Australia. It is named after the long autobiographical essay 'In a Working Forest' included here. Readers familiar only with Murray as a poet might be surprised at the volume and quality of his prose. It ranges from brief and amusing occasional pieces to some of the wisest essays written in the country. The subjects include republicanism, religion, Antarctica, sexuality, the great divide between the bush and the city, and of course poetry. From back cover: The Poetry of Les Murray Laurie Hergenhan, Bruce Clunies Ross, 2001 Les Murray is acknowledged as Australia's leading poet, the one with the most substantial world recognition. Yet the criticism on his work has until now been commensurate with this reputation, both in bulk and quality. This ground-breaking collection of essays ranges across Murray's considerable output, examining its lyrical qualities and its remarkable linguistic inventiveness, its landscapes and soundscapes, its biographical qualities, its underlying poetics, and world view, from the mid-length poems to the culminating verse 'Fredy Neptune'. Impressive in their depth, as well as their coverage, these original essays reveal the riches of the poetry. Contributors include outstanding Murray scholars, new and well-known from overseas, as well as Australia. Those interested in Australian and world poetry, teachers, students, general readers, and historians will find this volume an indispensable companion.

Body-Poetics of the Virgin Mary Jane Petkovic, 2021-05-25 The Judeo-Christian scriptures understand humans as being made in the image of God. What exactly does this mean? Basic agreement is that it means humans can only know and understand themselves in relation to God. If however this God is pure uncreated spirit, where does human embodiment fit in? Is it an obstacle to understanding? Or is it in some way instructive? John Paul II comes down decisively in favor of the body's value and importance. In his catechetical series, widely known as the Theology of the Body, John Paul II analyzes what is distinctive about human beings. He undertakes a reading of the body. This book reflects on John Paul II's interpretation, extending his findings to the Virgin Mary. Her specifically female maternal body is seen to offer insights into how the body images God, in how it speaks. The transformations of the female body parallel the transformations of language in poetry. The reconfigurations and accommodations of the gestational body are, this book suggests, poetic incarnations of God-likeness. Body Poetics of the Virgin Mary offers a Mariological slant on theological anthropology and a new way to think of how humans poetically image God.

"Les Murray Country" Ulla Fürstenberg, 2004

The Planetary Clock Paul Giles, 2021-02-11 The theme of The Planetary Clock is the representation of time in postmodern culture and the way temporality as a global phenomenon manifests itself differently across an antipodean axis. To trace postmodernism in an expansive spatial and temporal arc from its formal experimentation in the 1960s to environmental concerns in the twenty-first century is to describe a richer and more complex version of this cultural phenomenon. Exploring different scales of time from a Southern Hemisphere perspective with a special emphasis on issues of Indigeneity and the Anthropocene, The Planetary Clock offers a wide-ranging revisionist account of postmodernism.

reinterpreting literature film music and visual art of the post 1960 period within a planetary framework By bringing the culture of Australia and New Zealand into dialogue with other Western narratives it suggests how an antipodean impulse involving the transposition of the world into different spatial and temporal dimensions has long been an integral if generally occluded aspect of postmodernism Taking its title from a Florentine clock designed in 1510 to measure worldly time alongside the rotation of the planets The Planetary Clock ranges across well known American postmodernists John Barth Toni Morrison to more recent science fiction writers Octavia Butler Richard Powers while bringing the US tradition into juxtaposition with both its English Philip Larkin Ian McEwan and Australian Les Murray Alexis Wright counterparts By aligning cultural postmodernism with music Messiaen Ligeti Birtwistle the visual arts Hockney Blackman Fiona Hall and cinema Rohmer Haneke Tarantino this volume enlarges our understanding of global postmodernism for the twenty first century

Les Murray Steven Matthews,2001 In the only full critical study of Les Murray s work Steven Matthews provides a complete account of the poet s career to date A controversial figure Murray s version of Australian republicanism has caused heated argument about the future direction of his country as it moves away from its colonial past With detailed readings of major poems and literary and cultural contexts surrounding the work Matthews gives an overview of Murray s place in Australian literature and national thought
