Writing Poetry in the Dark Stephanie M. Wytovich, 2024-09-11 Writing Poetry in the Dark brings together some of the most successful contemporary genre poets to discuss topics related to creating dark and fantastical poetry While there are countless books available for the aspiring poet there is a lack of resources specifically for and on speculative poetry and with the market thriving publishers who previously did not put out poetry are now adding it to their catalogs requesting it for their anthologies and seeking it for their magazines Given these factors it seemed like the perfect time to put together a guide for dark poets that addresses some of the unique challenges they face such as creating monsters out of white space writing the hybrid poem or subverting folklore in the retelling of a classic tale Included in Writing Poetry in the Dark are recommendations on how to bring fear to the page write from the wound let violence loose channel the weird and tackle the dark side of daily life There are also practical suggestions for exploring different poetic forms and topics ranging from building worlds writing from different points of view and exploring gender and sexuality on the page This book will bring something different to every speculative writer who is interested in exploring poetry with a genre twist and it is our hope that this book will help poetry itself continue to evolve grow and redefine itself in the market for many years to come

Dark Writing Paul Carter, 2008-10-31 We do not see empty figures and outlines we do not move in straight lines Everywhere we are surrounded by dapple the geometry of our embodied lives is curviform meandering bipedal Our personal worlds are timed interpositional and contingent But nowhere in the language of cartography and design do these ordinary experiences appear This Dark Writing argues is a serious omission because they are designs on the world architects and colonizers use their lines to construct the places where we will live But the rectilinear streets squares and public spaces produced in this way leave out people and the entire environmental history of their coming together How this book asks can we explain the omission of bodies from maps and plans And how can we redraw the lines maps and plans use so that the qualitative world of shadows footprints comings and goings and occasions all essential qualities of places that incubate sociality can be registered In short Dark Writing asks why we represent the world as static when our experience of it is mobile It traces this bias in Enlightenment cartography in inductive logic and in contemporary place design This is the negative critique Its positive argument is that when we look closely at these designs on the world we find traces of a repressed movement form Even the ideal lines of geometrical figures turn out to contain traces of earlier passages and there are many forms of graphic design that do engage with the dark environment that surrounds the light of reason How can this dark writing so important to reconfiguring our world as a place of meeting of co existence and sustaining diversity be represented And how therefore can our representations of the world embody more sensuously the mobile histories that have produced it Dark Writing answers these questions using case studies the exemplary case of the beginnings of the now world famous Papunya Tula Painting Movement Central Australia and three high profile public place making initiatives in which the author was involved as artist and thinker These case studies are nested inside historical chapters and philosophical discussions of the line and linear thinking that make Dark Writing both a highly personal book and a narrative with wide general appeal
