It outlines a specific approach related to residential buildings and their intergenerational and vulnerable occupants such as ageing population and users in fuel poverty. It also focuses on the use of passive energy measures throughout the year and on pursuing a realistic and affordable approach to the efficient rehabilitation of resilient residential buildings. In addition, the book presents case studies that include surveys, monitoring and simulation of residential buildings in Spain and other Southern European representative locations in order to go further on the study of this challenging topic.

101 Rules of Thumb for Low-Energy Architecture Huw Heywood, 2021-08-31

Buildings and construction are a major contributor to the climate and biodiversity emergency. They account for nearly 40% of energy related carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions. It is more important than ever for architects to design responsibly and create low carbon, low energy buildings for a sustainable future. 101 Rules of Thumb sets out the essential elements of low energy architecture in a fresh, intuitive way. Where ever changing technology and complex legislation can cloud the designer's thought process, this book equips you with the fundamentals you need to minimise CO₂ emissions, design for low energy use and work with, not against, the forces of nature. With reliable, simple rules of thumb, each page focuses on a single piece of guidance along with a clear, hand-drawn illustration. The emphasis is on passive, low energy principles and the rules of thumb cover all the design fundamentals from site and location to orientation and form, peppered with ideas to help the designer think outside the box, drawing inspiration from traditional methods, photoperiodic plants and the black-tailed prairie dog. An extended, fully updated narrative bibliography explores the sources in detail and provides a valuable springboard for further study. Applicable throughout the world in any climate region, 101 Rules of Thumb is a global primer to be dipped into at any time as a quick means of re-focusing on what's important when designing a new or retrofitted low energy building. The rules cover Site and location, Orientation and form, The low energy building envelope, Carbon free heating, cooling and lighting.
