Gheith,2002-07-11 A History of Women s Writing in Russia offers a comprehensive account of the lives and works of Russia s women writers Based on original and archival research this volume forces a re examination of many of the traditionally held assumptions about Russian literature and women s role in the tradition In setting about the process of reintegrating women writers into the history of Russian literature contributors have addressed the often surprising contexts within which women s writing has been produced Chapters reveal a flourishing literary tradition where none was thought to exist They redraw the map defining Russia s literary periods they look at how Russia s women writers articulated their own experience and they reassess their relationship to the dominant male tradition The volume is supported by extensive reference features including a bibliography and guide to writers and their works

A History of Russian Women's Writing, 1820-1992 Catriona Kelly,1994 Written from a feminist perspective the book combines a broad historical survey with close textual analysis Sections on women s writing in the periods 1820 1880 1881 1917 1917 1953 and 1953 1992 are followed by essays on individual writers

The Prose of Life Benjamin M. Sutcliffe,2009-04-13 Both before and after the collapse of the Soviet Union everyday life and the domestic sphere served as an ideological battleground simultaneously threatening Stalinist control and challenging traditional Russian gender norms that had been shaken by the Second World War The Prose of Life examines how six female authors employed images of daily life to depict women s experience in Russian culture from the 1960s to the present By a term connoting both the everyday and its many petty problems is an enduring yet neglected theme in Russian literature its very ordinariness causes many critics to ignore it Benjamin Sutcliffe s study is the first sustained examination of how and why everyday life as a literary and philosophical category catalyzed the development of post Stalinist Russian women s prose particularly since the collapse of the Soviet Union A focus on the representation of everyday life in women s prose reveals that a first generation of female writers Natal ia Baranskaia Irina Grekova both legitimated and limited their successors Liudmila Petrushevskaja Tat iana Tolstaia Liudmila Ulitskaia and Svetlana Vasilenko in their choice of literary topics The Prose of Life traces the development and intriguing ruptures of recent Russian women s prose becoming a must read for readers interested in Russian literature and gender studies 2009 Outstanding Academic Title Choice Magazine

Post-Soviet Women Writers and the National Imaginary, 1989-2009, 2013 Always a Woman, 1987 Women Writers in Russian Modernism Temira Pachmuss, 1978 Displacement and (Post)memory in Post-Soviet Women's Writing Marja Sorvari, 2022-04-22

The book examines prominent literary works from the past two decades by Russian women writers dealing with the Soviet past. It explores works such as Daniel Stein Interpreter by Ludmilla Ulitskaya, The Time of Women by Elena Chizhova, Secondhand Time, The Last of the Soviets by Svetlana Alexievich, and In Memory of Memory by Maria Stepanova, and uncovers connecting thematic structures and features. Focusing on the concepts of displacement and postmemory, the book shows how these works have given voice to those on the margins of society and of great history whose resistance was often silent. In doing so, these women writers portray the everyday experiences and trauma of displaced women and girls during the second half of the twentieth century. This study offers new insights into the importance of these women writers' work in creating and preserving cultural memory in post-Soviet Russia.

Russian Women Writers Christine D. Tomei, 1999 Mapping Experience in Polish and Russian Women's Writing Urszula Chowaniec, 2010-09-13

The volume encompasses eleven articles which discuss the critical views that Polish and Russian women writers have articulated with regard to the notion of experience and constructions of femininity in the national imagination from the 19th to the 21st centuries. Major themes of the articles include women's experiences as writers in the 19th century, women's embodied experiences of a traumatic past, body and sexuality in the different ages of women, political and aesthetic discourses, and femininity. Although the articles are arranged in chronological order, they do not form an absolute chronological or periodic continuum, i.e. from Romanticism to Postmodernism, although references to certain aesthetic periods are made. The authors of the articles reflect in detail on how the women writers and their literary texts represent different understandings and experiences in relation to dominant perceptions, for example of the memory of war, of motherhood, of art and aesthetics, and so on. Readers are encouraged to seek parallels and continuities between the different historical times and spaces between women's writing in Russia and Poland, between different scholarly approaches, and aims. The articles of this volume bring together important critical standpoints in women's writing in Poland and Russia, in which parallels, continuities, and resemblances can be traced, but in which discontinuities, breaks, and differences also make themselves visible. Apart from the conspicuous resemblances between individual Russian and Polish women writers' works, or even between groups of women writers, the articles document the diversity within Russian and Polish women's writing, respectively, and even within individual writers.
