Tappan's Burro:

Tappan's Burro Zane Grey, 2014-02-21 Zane Grey January 31 1872 October 23 1939 was an American author best known for his popular adventure novels and stories that presented an idealized image of the American frontier including the novel Riders of the Purple Sage his best selling book This is one of his stories Tappan's Burro: Large Print Zane Grey, 2019-10-06 Prospecting was a lonely business for Tappan but his burro Jenet was good company and more She knew the trails and waterholes better than Tappan from the scorching heat and poison air of Death Valley to the blinding blizzards of Arizona's mountains Jenet tracked with him faithful his only friend And he repaid her loyalty with a final supreme effort of heart will and spirit Tappan's Burro and Other Stories Zane Grey, 2019-11-27 About Notion Press Share stories spread ideas and change the world Notion Press runs on this motto We've made it our mission to make publishing accessible for every aspiring writer and books available for any passionate reader across the globe Driven by technology we have published over 10 000 titles and inspired over 100 000 writers to fulfill their dreams Notion Press Classics is a project we started to revive forgotten classics that have defined the literary universe Tappan's Burro, and Other Stories Zane Grey, Charles Shepard Chapman, Frank Street, 2025-03-29 Venture into the heart of the American West with Zane Grey's Tappan's Burro and Other Stories a captivating collection of short fiction showcasing frontier life in the 20th century Grey a master of western fiction paints vivid portraits of the landscapes and characters that defined the era These stories blending elements of humor and literary depth capture the spirit of a bygone time Experience the challenges and triumphs of those who carved a life out of the rugged terrain From heartwarming tales to glimpses of the harsh realities faced by settlers Tappan's Burro and Other Stories offers a window into the soul of the West A timeless exploration of the human condition set against the backdrop of a vast and untamed land This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Tappan's Burro Zane Grey, 2020-08-23 Prospecting was a lonely business for Tappan but his burro Jenet was good company and more She knew the trails and waterholes better than Tappan from the scorching heat and poison air of Death Valley to the blinding blizzards of Arizona's mountains Jenet tracked with him faithful his only friend And he repaid her loyalty with a final supreme effort of heart will and spirit Tappan's Burro Zane Grey, 2021-02-10 TAPPAN had a weakness common to all prospectors Any tale of a lost gold mine would excite his interest and well known legends of lost mines always obsessed him Peg leg Smith's lost gold mine had lured Tappan to no less than half a dozen trips into the terrible shifting sand country of southern California There was no

water near the region said to hide this mine of fabulous wealth Many prospectors had left their bones to bleach white in the sun finally to be buried by the ever blowing sands Upon the occasion of Tappan's last escape from this desolate and forbidding desert he had promised Jenet never to undertake it again It seemed Tappan promised the faithful burro a good many things It had been a habit When Tappan had a particularly hard experience or perilous adventure he always took a dislike to the immediate country where it had befallen him Jenet had dragged him across Death Valley through incredible heat and the midnight furnace winds of that strange place and he had promised her he would never forget how she had saved his life Nor would he ever go back to Death Valley He made his way over the Funeral Mountains worked down through Nevada and crossed the Rio Colorado above Needles and entered Arizona He traveled leisurely but he kept going and headed southeast towards Globe There he cashed one of his six bags of gold and indulged in the luxury of a complete new outfit Even Jenet appreciated this fact for the old outfit would scarcely hold together Tappan had the other five bags of gold in his pack and after hours of hesitation he decided he would not cash them and entrust the money to a bank He would take care of them For him the value of this gold amounted to a small fortune Many plans suggested themselves to Tappan But in the end he grew weary of them What did he want with a ranch or cattle or an outfitting store or any of the businesses he now had the means to buy Towns soon palled on Tappan People did not long please him Selfish interest and greed seemed paramount everywhere Besides if he acquired a place to take up his time what would become of Jenet That question decided him He packed the burro and once more took to the trails

Tappan's Burro, and Other Stories Zane Grey, 1923 Tappan's Burro and Other Stories (Illustrated Edition) Zane Grey, 2019-06-20 Grey 1872-1939 was an American author and dentist best known for his popular adventure novels and western stories In his best selling book Riders of the Purple Sage 1912 he idealized the American frontier and many of his novels and stories have been adapted for film and television In addition to the title story this collection published in 1923 includes The Great Slave Yaqui Tigre and The Rubber Hunter With illustrations reproduced in black and white by Charles S Chapman and Frank Street Tappan's Burro, and Other Stories Zane Grey, 2019-11-21 In Tappan's Burro and Other Stories Zane Grey presents a collection of short narratives that vividly encapsulate the rugged beauty of the American West This anthology showcases Grey's distinctive literary style characterized by rich descriptive prose and deeply ingrained themes of human struggle against nature Each story deftly blends adventure humor and poignant character studies reflecting the author's fascination with the frontier life and its challenges The collection captures a sense of authenticity as the characters grapple with their environment while embodying the spirit of resilience and independence typical of early 20th century American literature Zane Grey known primarily for his prolific contribution to the Western genre was deeply influenced by his own experiences as a fisherman outdoorsman and writer Born in 1872 Grey's upbringing in Ohio was marked by a profound connection to the natural world which he later explored extensively during his travels across the West His passion for nature and adventure informed his writing fueling stories that resonate with themes of exploration and the human condition This collection is highly recommended for lovers of Western literature as it offers a delightful mix of humor and heartfelt human experiences Grey's keen observations of nature and human emotion make Tappan's Burro and Other Stories a compelling read perfect for those who appreciate the intersection of adventure and introspection

Tappan's Burro, and Other Stories (Classic Reprint) Zane Grey, 2017-05-17 Excerpt from Tappan's Burro and Other Stories Tappan waited two weeks at this oasis for Jennie's baby burro to grow strong enough to walk And the very day that Tappan decided to break camp he found signs of gold at the head of a wash above the oasis Quite by chance as he was looking for his burros he struck his pick into a place no different from a thousand others there and hit into a pocket of gold He cleaned out the pocket before sunset the richer for several thousand dollars About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Tappan's Burro Zane Grey, 2021-03-12 TAPPAN had a weakness common to all prospectors Any tale of a lost gold mine would excite his interest and well known legends of lost mines always obsessed him Peg leg Smith's lost gold mine had lured Tappan to no less than half a dozen trips into the terrible shifting sand country of southern California There was no water near the region said to hide this mine of fabulous wealth Many prospectors had left their bones to bleach white in the sun finally to be buried by the ever blowing sands Upon the occasion of Tappan's last escape from this desolate and forbidding desert he had promised Jenet never to undertake it again It seemed Tappan promised the faithful burro a good many things It had been a habit When Tappan had a particularly hard experience or perilous adventure he always took a dislike to the immediate country where it had befallen him Jenet had dragged him across Death Valley through incredible heat and the midnight furnace winds of that strange place and he had promised her he would never forget how she had saved his life Nor would he ever go back to Death Valley He made his way over the Funeral Mountains worked down through Nevada and crossed the Rio Colorado above Needles and entered Arizona He traveled leisurely but he kept going and headed southeast towards Globe There he cashed one of his six bags of gold and indulged in the luxury of a complete new outfit Even Jenet appreciated this fact for the old outfit would scarcely hold together Tappan had the other five bags of gold in his pack and after hours of hesitation he decided he would not cash them and entrust the money to a bank He would take care of them For him the value of this gold amounted to a small fortune Many plans suggested themselves to Tappan But in the end he grew weary of them What did he want with a ranch or cattle or an outfitting store or any of the businesses he now had the means to buy Towns soon palled on Tappan People did not long please him Selfish interest and greed seemed paramount everywhere Besides if he
