

An illustration of a tiger in a forest, looking towards the right. In the foreground, there are several large, circular traps with spikes around the edges. In the background, a person and a dog are visible in the distance, and the forest is filled with tall, thin trees. The scene is lit with a warm, golden light, suggesting a sunset or sunrise.

Their imminent recovery depends on better
management of the trees and the tiger population.
