Speeches To The Party:

Party Discipline in the U.S. House of Representatives Kathryn Pearson, 2015-08-06 Political party leaders in the U S House of Representatives command greater loyalty than ever from fellow party members in roll call votes campaign contributions and partisan speeches In return leaders reward compliant members with opportunities to promote constituent interests and to advance their own political careers Denial of such privileges as retribution against those who don t fully support the party agenda may significantly damage a member s prospects Kathryn Pearson examines the disciplinary measures that party leaders in the U S House of Representatives employ to exact such loyalty as well as the consequences for a democratic legislature Drawing upon data from 1987 2010 Pearson identifies the conditions under which party leaders opt to prioritize policy control and those which induce them to prioritize majority control She then assesses the ways in which these choices affect on one hand the party s ability to achieve its goals and on the other hand rank and file members ability to represent their constituents Astute party leaders recognize the need for balance as voters could oust representatives who repeatedly support the party s agenda over their constituents concerns thereby jeopardizing the number of seats their party holds In her conclusion Pearson discusses the consequences of party discipline such as legislative gridlock stalled bills and proposals banned from the agenda Although party discipline is likely to remain strong as citizens become more cognizant of enforced party loyalty their increasing dissatisfaction with Congress may spur change Speeches and debates 1856-1858, comprising political speeches, legal arguments and notes, and the first three joint debates with Douglas, and the opening of the fourth Abraham Lincoln, 1907 Speeches and Writings of Wm.
