Statistics, Testing, and Defense Acquisition National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Panel on Statistical Methods for Testing and Evaluating Defense Systems, 1999-08-17 The Panel on Statistical Methods for Testing and Evaluating Defense Systems had a broad mandate to examine the use of statistics in conjunction with defense testing This involved examining methods for software testing reliability test planning and estimation validation of modeling and simulation and use of modern techniques for experimental design Given the breadth of these areas including the great variety of applications and special issues that arise making a contribution in each of these areas required that the Panel's work and recommendations be at a relatively general level However a variety of more specific research issues were either brought to the Panel's attention by members of the test and acquisition community e g what was referred to as Dubin's challenge addressed in the Panel's interim report or were identified by members of the panel In many of these cases the panel thought that a more in depth analysis or a more detailed application of suggestions or recommendations made by the Panel would either be useful as input to its deliberations or could be used to help communicate more individual views of members of the Panel to the defense test community This resulted in several research efforts Given various criteria especially immediate relevance to the test and acquisition community the Panel has decided to make available three technical or background papers each authored by a Panel member jointly with a colleague These papers are individual contributions and are not a consensus product of the Panel however the Panel has drawn from these papers in preparation of its final report Statistics Testing and Defense Acquisition The Panel has found each of these papers to be extremely useful and they are strongly recommended to readers of the Panel's final report

Model-Based Testing for Embedded Systems Justyna Zander, Ina Schieferdecker, Pieter J. Mosterman, 2017-12-19 What the experts have to say about Model Based Testing for Embedded Systems This book is exactly what is needed at the exact right time in this fast growing area From its beginnings over 10 years ago of deriving tests from UML statecharts model based testing has matured into a topic with both breadth and depth Testing embedded systems is a natural application of MBT and this book hits the nail exactly on the head Numerous topics are presented clearly thoroughly and concisely in this cutting edge book The authors are world class leading experts in this area and teach us well used and validated techniques along with new ideas for solving hard problems It is rare that a book can take recent research advances and present them in a form ready for practical use but this book accomplishes that and more I am anxious to recommend this in my consulting and to teach a new class to my students Dr Jeff Offutt professor of software engineering George Mason University Fairfax Virginia USA This handbook is the best resource I am aware of on the automated testing of embedded systems It is thorough comprehensive and authoritative It covers all important technical and scientific aspects but also provides highly interesting insights into the state of practice of model based testing for embedded systems Dr Lionel C Briand IEEE Fellow Simula

Research Laboratory Lysaker Norway and professor at the University of Oslo Norway As model based testing is entering the mainstream such a comprehensive and intelligible book is a must read for anyone looking for more information about improved testing methods for embedded systems Illustrated with numerous aspects of these techniques from many contributors it gives a clear picture of what the state of the art is today Dr Bruno Legard CTO of Smartesting professor of Software Engineering at the University of Franche Comt Besan on France and co author of Practical Model Based Testing
