Dining Room Detectives Silvia Baucekova, 2015-09-04 In the structuralist understanding as proposed by John G Cawelti a classical detective novel is defined as a formula which contains prescribed elements and develops in a predefined ritualistic manner When described in this way the crime fiction formula very closely resembles a recipe when one cooks they also add prescribed ingredients in a predefined way in order to produce the final dish This surprising parallel serves as the starting point for this book's analysis of classical detective novels by Agatha Christie Here a structuralist approach to Golden Age crime fiction is complemented by methodology developed in the field of food studies in order to demonstrate the twofold role that food plays in Christie's novels namely its function as an element of the formula a literary device but also as a cultural sign Christie employed food on various different levels of her stories in order to portray characters construct plots and depict settings What is more incorporating domesticity and food in her novels helped her fundamentally alter the rigid conventions of the crime fiction genre as it developed in the nineteenth century and enabled her to successfully introduce the character of the female detective and to feminise the detective novel as such Newspaper Writing and Editing Willard Grosvenor Bleyer,1923 Report British Board of Film Censors,1919 Justina ,1886 The Social Sciences Chicago Public Library,1914 The Illustrated Story of Crime Edgar Lustgarten,1976 The Complete Index to Literary Sources in Film Alan Goble,2011-09-08 No detailed description available for The Complete Index to Literary Sources in Film Harper's Monthly Magazine ,1902 Clues: A Journal of Detection, Vol. 41, No. 1 (Spring 2023) Elizabeth Foxwell,2023-10-19 For over two decades Clues has included the best scholarship on mystery and detective fiction With a combination of academic essays and nonfiction book reviews it covers all aspects of mystery and detective fiction material in print television and movies As the only American scholarly journal on mystery fiction Clues is essential reading for literature and film students and researchers popular culture aficionados librarians and mystery authors fans and critics around the globe Commerce ,1919 Power, Marginality, and the Body in Medieval Islam Fedwa Malti-Douglas,2022-04-19 From rulers to uninvited guests from women to thieves from dreams to names from blindness to torture in a series of ground breaking studies Power Marginality and the Body in Medieval Islam explores the multi layered and complex textual universe of medieval Islam The power of the ruler sits alongside the power of the trickster as games of detection and verbal erudition are displayed for the edification of the reader Humour is not lacking either as male and female characters indulge in various forms of wit that redefine and recast the sacred For much of this world the body reigns supreme not only in illness and miracle cures but in displays of transgression and torture Covering the range of literature from sacred text to history biography and anecdote this book provides a stimulating analysis of the world of medieval Islamic mentalit s The Literary Digest International Book Review Clifford Smyth,1923 Channeling Violence James T. Hamilton,2021-04-13 If it bleeds it leads The phrase captures television news directors famed preference for opening newscasts with the most violent stories they can find And what is true for news is often true for entertainment programming where violence is used as a product to attract both viewers and sponsors In this book James Hamilton presents the first major theoretical and empirical examination of the market for television violence Hamilton approaches television violence in the same way that other economists approach the problem of pollution that is as an example of market failure He argues that television violence like pollution generates negative externalities defined as costs borne by others than those involved in the production activity Broadcasters seeking to attract viewers may not fully bear the costs to society of their violent programming if those costs include such factors as increased levels of aggression and crime in society Hamilton goes on to say that the comparison to pollution remains relevant when considering how to deal with the problem Approaches devised to control violent programming such as restricting it to certain times and rating programs according to the violence they contain have parallels in zoning and education policies designed to protect the environment Hamilton examines in detail the microstructure of incentives that operate at every level of television broadcasting from programming and advertising to viewer behavior so that remedies can be devised to reduce violent programming without restricting broadcasters right to compete The Book Buyer ,1908

The Pain Within My Soul Irina Zakirova,2015-02-09 The title of this book The Pain within my Soul speaks for itself since the author uses real life stories from personal experience and each story may personally touch the reader s soul Not by chance the subtitle of the book is Short Stories about Crime and Life where it is sometimes hard to divide one from the other This book introduces a collection of stories about crime and life written in different styles of writing The author of the book during her experience as both a journalist and a police officer would interact with people who committed crime That s why these stories are based on true events and real people though for ethical norms the names of the characters and places were changed The author defines causation of crime through her own perspective Despite the public s negative perception towards criminals the author tries to convey the idea that some criminals had no other choice but to commit a crime in order to survive in their tough periods of life The author shows that a border between understanding criminals and non criminals might be indecipherable and only one step is enough to move from a non criminal to a criminal and vice versa These real stories are examples of particular types of crime and issues in criminal justice system for example turf wars among criminal justice agencies story Nobody s disadvantaged families as a major factor which leads adolescents to run away from home story Fruit Garden social demographic characteristics such as poverty lack of education as factors which lead to prostitution stories On the Corner of Earth Flower of the Blind Alley Weeping Blizzard Other stories provide by itself examples of different types of crimes group rape stories He gave me Up Valley of Crying Tulips murder story Twisted Vine of Destiny coerced confession story Two Steps into the Past I Confess This collection of stories will be of great interest to students of law and criminal justice as well as the general readers Chamber's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts ,1878 The Queries Magazine ,1890 The Independent ,1913
