Marryat,2016-02-03 Chapter I About the middle of the seventeenth century in the outskirts of the small but fortified town of Terneuse situated on the right bank of the Scheldt and nearly opposite to the island of Walcheren there was to be seen in advance of a few other even more humble tenements a small but neat cottage built according to the prevailing taste of the time The outside front had some years back been painted of a deep orange the windows and shutters of a vivid green To about three feet above the surface of the earth it was faced alternately with blue and white tiles A small garden of about two rods of our measure of land surrounded the edifice and this little plot was flanked by a low hedge of privet and encircled by a moat full of water too wide to be leaped with ease Over that part of the moat which was in front of the cottage door was a small and narrow bridge with ornamented iron hand rails for the security of the passenger But the colours originally so bright with which the cottage had been decorated had now faded symptoms of rapid decay were evident in the window sills the door jambs and other wooden parts of the tenement and many of the white and blue tiles had fallen down and had not been replaced That much care had once been bestowed upon this little tenement was as evident as that latterly it had been equally neglected The Phantom Ship: (1839) Is a Gothic Novel Frederick Marryat,2019-03-10 The Phantom Ship 1839 is a
