Industrial Mission in a Changing World John William Rogerson, 1996 When Sheffield Industrial Mission was founded in 1944 by Bishop Leslie Hunter Britain was a heavily industrialised country and the purpose of the Mission was to bridge the gap between the churches and industry Britain is today largely deindustrialised and the churches are not the force in national life that they were in 1944 The Jubilee volume of the Sheffield Industrial Mission reviews its history and progress and asks searching questions about the nature of mission spirituality and the Christian gospel in today s society

Socio-economic Ethics as Transformative Theology Barbara Paleczny, 1994

The Language of Battered Women Carol L. Winkelmann, 2004 This study of battered women living in a shelter offers a rhetorical analysis of survivors personal theologies Author Carol L Winkelmann holds that while it is virtually ignored in the domestic violence literature the

Christian heritage of many battered women plays a significant if complicated role in their language thoughts and lives The women s religious faith serves not only to sustain them through periods of profound suffering but also to develop solidarity with other culturally different women in the shelter Designed to assist women to greater independence the shelter actually functions as a culture of surveillance where women turn to one another and to their faith to cope with the trauma of violence To heal the women engage in dialogue that is dense in religious imagery talking about the relationship of God and the church to suffering and evil At the same time these women also acknowledge that organized religion is very much involved in the maintenance of patriarchal marriage and its attendant abuses in their own lives Together battered women are sometimes able to construct creative theological responses to the problem of suffering and evil A mix of religious and secular languages compels them to devise new ways of thinking about their role in family church and society

Reinhold Niebuhr (1892-1971) Gary A. Gaudin, Douglas John Hall, 1994 The Raging Grannies Carole Roy, 2004 Women fought against slavery and offered shelter to hunted runaways demanded economic justice for the starving or working poor raised their voices when rights were trampled raised their fists when their children were murdered Women s collective acts of resistance have played and continue to play a vital but often unacknowledged role in humanizing social political and economic policies To death danger and oppression women have frequently responded in life affirming ways their contributions concealed in invisibility and silence for too long without stories of resistance and opposition But no more This is the tale of the Raging Grannies Their beginning and growth the invention of their identity the educational and bold potential of their activism the values expressed in their actions and songs and their impact on issues stereotypes media and people At a time when environmental destruction and war threatened when the growing chasm between poor and rich endangered justice a group of women stood up with courageous irreverence to denounce government lies corporate greed and short sightedness and in the process created a new cultural figure that challenged authority as well as stereotypes of women The Grannies distinctive approach is surprisingly popular and effective in sixteen years more than fifty groups of Raging Grannies exist across Canada in the United States and as far away as the UK Australia and Greece Greek Grannies call themselves Furies Their popularity reveals the power of creativity and humour which allow them to claim their space on the political scene refusing to be dismissed or ignored The Raging Grannies both records and celebrates this vibrant activism Bursting with adventures this is the tale of the Raging Grannies their beginning the invention of their identity and their impact on issues stereotypes media and people
