Australian Submarines Vol 2 Michael White, 2015-11-01 The book commences with a discussion of the policy issues as to whether Australia needed submarines and then the decision to buy AE1 and AE2 It then goes through their coming to Australia the tragic loss of AE1 in New Guinea on 14 September 1914 and the bravery and daring of the AE2 crew in penetrating the Dardanelles on Anzac Day in 1915 The history then goes on to deal with the J Class submarines that came to Australia in 1919 the first Oxley and Otway which went to the RN in the Depression in 1931 and the fact that in World War Two Australia had no submarines except for the Dutch K IX whose career ended with a battery explosion in 1944 Then the period of the RN Fourth Submarine Squadron based in Sydney is dealt with including some of the happy memories of those who served in it The book sets out the story of the new RAN submarine arm from 1963 When Oxley S 57 arrived in Neutral Bay Sydney in 1967 so began the new Australian era of submarines The basic dates of the O Boats are outlined along with the building and basic dates of the Collins class The book deals with some of the issues about the intelligence patrols about the Future Submarine and also records the numerous plaques services memorials and museums in Australia and overseas dedicated to Australian submarines and Australian and NZ submariners There is a detailed chapter on special submarine craft such as the X Craft in which some of the submarine heroes like Max Sheehan Henty Henty Creer and Ken Briggs served and in some cases died The appendices to this book are numerous and detailed by a strong team from around the world including Garry Mellon Barrie Downer and Pat Heffernan Numerous photographs have been collected and included in the book to fit in with the text from Darren Brown and others The appendices also list all Australian submariners who have qualified and served up until mid 2014 including those who have died

The Submarine Service, 1900-1918 Nicholas Lambert, 2020-11-26 The year 2001 marks the centenary of the Royal Navy's submarine service In the aftermath of the 2016 celebrations of the Battle of Jutland centenary it is worth considering how the First World War at sea changed This volume opens with an examination of the background to the Board of Admiralty's decision in 1900 to buy submarines bringing to light documents that go a long way toward dispelling the myth that Britain's pre 1914 naval leaders were opposed to the development of the submarine as a major weapon Indeed the documents show that senior naval officers and influential civilians in Whitehall believed that the advent of the submarine would revolutionize naval warfare in a way that would bolster the Royal Navy's position as the world's predominant naval power This edited selection of documents illustrates not only the Admiralty's thinking on the employment of the submarine between 1900 and 1918 it also charts the technical development of British submarines and explains issues such as why the pioneer submariners came to regard themselves as an elite group within the Royal Navy and were allowed to become the silent service

One Submarine's Secret War Against the Axis Gav Don, 2025-12-30 This is the story of a unique submarine and the people who sailed in her in the Mediterranean over the course of 1941 Triumph arrived in theatre in January 1941 just as 50 000 Allied troops were being deployed to Greece to deter a German invasion Within days of arriving this army found 200 000 heavily armed Germans thundering towards it A helter skelter retreat ensued Within sixty days both Greece and Crete had fallen while Rommel's Afrika Korps had arrived in Libya Triumph was a major player before and afterwards landing secret agents and rescuing escapers while attacking Rommel's supply lines and the Italian fleet with gun and torpedo Among the many fascinating characters with whom Triumph's tale is intertwined are the Greek smuggler Harry Grammatikakis and Lieutenant John Atkinson MC who was captured in Crete escaped to Alexandria and returned to Greece as a key agent of SOE and MI9 His last return to Greece aboard Triumph ended in his dramatic recapture trial and death by firing squad along with the key members of the Greek resistance Tragically Triumph's story culminates in her disappearance in January 1942 while on one last mission before a promised rest and refit The discovery of her wreck in 2023 has allowed her final patrol and tragic loss with all hands to be reconstructed here in unprecedented detail
