co author accused of fabricating The Borderlands of Science Michael Shermer, 2001-05-17 As author of the bestselling Why People Believe Weird Things and How We Believe and Editor in Chief of Skeptic magazine Michael Shermer has emerged as the nation's number one scourge of superstition and bad science Now in The Borderlands of Science he takes us to the place where real science such as the big bang theory borderland science superstring theory and just plain nonsense Big Foot collide with one another Shermer argues that science is the best lens through which to view the world but he recognizes that it's often difficult for most of us to tell where valid science leaves off and borderland science begins To help us Shermer looks at a range of topics that put the boundary line in high relief For instance he discusses the many theories of everything that try to reduce the complexity of the world to a single principle and shows how most fall into the category of pseudoscience He examines the work of Darwin and Freud explaining why one is among the great scientists in history while the other has become nothing more than a historical curiosity He also shows how Carl Sagan's life exemplified the struggle we all face to find a balance between being open minded enough to recognize radical new ideas but not so open minded that our brains fall out And finally he reveals how scientists themselves can be led astray as seen in the infamous Piltdown Hoax Michael Shermer's enlightening volume will be a valuable aid to anyone bewildered by the many scientific theories swirling about It will help us stay grounded in common sense as we try to evaluate everything from SETI and acupuncture to hypnosis and cloning

From Piltdown Man to Point Omega Noel Roberts, 2000 From Piltdown Man to Point Omega is a fresh comprehensive interdisciplinary and incisive analysis of the evolutionary theory of the French Jesuit priest and scientist Pierre Teilhard de Chardin The book enables the reader to access the thought of this enigmatic figure Piltdown Frank Spencer, Ian Langham, 1990 On the night of December 18 1912 a packed meeting of the Geological Society of London listened to Charles Dawson a rural lawyer and an amateur geologist make an exciting announcement he had found evolution's missing link in an old gravel pit near Piltdown Common Together with Arthur Smith Woodward Keeper of Geology at the British Museum and a noted authority on prehistoric archaeology Dawson had discovered the shattered remnants of a thick human like skull together with a simian jaw the fossils of a strange creature halfway between apes and human beings Though debates raged over reconstructing Piltdown Man from these remains few doubted their authenticity and it was not until forty years later that further tests proved they were an elaborate fake Written by anthropologist Frank Spencer Piltdown tells the story of this incredible hoax the greatest forgery in the history of modern science Spencer begins by taking us back to the debates in Edwardian Britain over the antiquity of Homo sapiens and the public excitement over the search for the missing link between apes and human beings He recounts Dawson's initial discovery of the shattered skull the further dramatic finds made with Woodward in the midst of the furious scientific debate over Piltdown Man and the great public argument between Woodward and Arthur Keith over the reconstruction of the head Keith an anatomist and Conservator of the Hunterian Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons won fame by promoting his own theory of a very human like version of the

Piltdown skull Spencer also traces the increasing confusion and doubt over Piltdown Man as later archaeological discoveries were made in Africa and China the Piltdown Man didn't seem to fit the emerging picture of human evolution and an ever larger number of scientists claimed that the jaw did not belong with the skull Finally he captures the dramatic uncovering of the hoax closely following anthropologist Joseph Weiner's fascinating investigation in 1953 Weiner troubled by the inconsistencies of Piltdown Man revealed that the remains consisted of a modern human skull and the jaw of an orangutan treated with chemicals to simulate great age and planted at the Piltdown site Yet the question of who perpetrated the forgery has remained to the present day Certainly Dawson a rural solicitor who craved a great scientific reputation was intimately involved But who provided the tremendous expertise behind the hoax and why would such a learned authority risk his career on a highly public fake Was it Woodward the great archaeologist most closely associated with the find Keith the prominent anatomist Or was it Teilhard de Chardin the French priest who found a critical tooth at the site Spencer draws on original documents from the archives of the British Museum and other sources to identify the missing conspirator in a startling and convincing revelation Compelling and authoritative Piltdown offers a gripping account of this great hoax and the final word on one of the deepest mysteries of modern science

Unraveling Piltdown John Evangelist Walsh, 1996 In 1913 amateur fossil hunter and archaeologist Charles Dawson found in a gravel pit the cranium and jaw of an entirely new species of humanoid which became known as Piltdown man which caused headlines worldwide as the missing link between man and ape In 1952 it was exposed as a hoax With eight pages of photos this book is a wonderful detective story and the first examination that convincingly fingers the perpetrator

Piltdown Man Miles Russell, 2003 Piltdown scene of the most daring archaeological hoax ever to be perpetrated upon the scientific community The discovery of a human skull and ape like jaw in this quiet English village 100 years ago was hailed by the world's press as the evolutionary missing link between ape and man In November 1953 it was exposed as a fraud For the last 50 years people have speculated on the identity and possible motive of the Piltdown forger Many names have been put forward as potential suspects often on little more than guesswork hearsay or vague supposition Now for the first time the life and career of Piltdown's discoverer Charles Dawson FGS FSA is put under the microscope with some rather startling conclusions Piltdown it would appear was only one in a long line of hoaxes frauds and academic deceptions Truth is indeed sometimes stranger than fiction
