The Plot Dealing With Feelings:

How to Deal with Refugees? Gerhard Besier, Katarzyna Stoklosa, 2018 2015 was without any doubt the year of migrations. Over the subsequent two years we have certainly seen the migration flows reduce but it was never going to be possible to halt them altogether. From the outset of this phenomenon numerous academics and researchers have dedicated themselves to the topic. They analyse the causes, the course of the migration flows, parallels and impacts as well as possible scenarios of the migration movement. A wide reaching debate has evolved on the topic of migration to which the authors in this anthology were also keen to contribute. Conflict regulations attempts. In this publication historians, political scientists, philosophers, sociologists, geographers, human geographers, economists, literary scientists, legal scholars, theologians and psychiatrists from a range of European and Non European countries have each contributed from their individual standpoints. Structures of Feeling Devika Sharma, Frederik Tygstrup, 2015-03-05 Raymond Williams coined the notion structure of feeling in the 1970s to facilitate a historical understanding of affective elements of consciousness and relationships. Since then the need to understand emotions, moods and atmospheres as historical and social phenomena has only become more acute in an era of social networking, ubiquitous media and a public sphere permeated by commodities and advertisement culture. Concomitantly affect studies have become one of the most thriving branches of contemporary humanities and social sciences. This volume explores the significance of the study of affectivity for already thriving fields of cultural analysis such as media studies, memory studies, gender studies and cultural studies at large. The volume is divided into four sections. The first part Producing Affect brings together contributions which explore some of the ways in which new media works to produce and intensify affectivity. The essays making up the second part Affective Pasts explore the significance of affect to the ways we remember, commemorate and in other ways get hold of things in our recent and not so recent past or fail to do so. The essays engage the affective production of presence in contexts such as 9/11, the emotional culture of the eighteenth century and literary autofiction. The third part Affective Thinking examines various concepts, theories and forms of thinking not so much to show how the thinking in question may inform the field of affect studies but rather in order to draw attention to the way in which these modes of thinking are themselves already attuned to matters of affect. New social relations and ways of being in a networked world are the common themes of the essays in the final part of the volume Circulating Affect. Coping With Trauma Jon G. Allen, 2008-05-20 Combining years of research, teaching and experience treating trauma survivors, Dr Jon G. Allen offers compassionate and practical guidance to understanding trauma and its effects on the self and relationships. Coping With Trauma is based on more than a decade of Dr Allen's experience conducting educational groups for persons struggling with psychiatric disorders stemming from trauma. Written for a general audience, this book does not require a background in psychology. Readers will gain essential knowledge to embark on the process of healing from the complex wounds of trauma along with a guide to current treatment approaches. In this supportive and informative work, readers will be introduced to and encouraged in the process of healing by an author who is both witness and guide This clearly written insightful book not only teaches clinicians about trauma but also equally important teaches clinicians how to educate their patients about trauma Reshaped by recent developments in attachment theory including the importance of cumulative stress over a lifetime this compelling work retains the author's initial focus on attachment as he looks at trauma from two perspectives From the psychological perspective the author discusses the impact of trauma on emotion memory the self and relationships incorporating research from neuroscience to argue that trauma is a physical illness From the psychiatric perspective the author discusses various trauma related disorders and symptoms depression posttraumatic stress disorder and dissociative disorders along with a range of self destructive behaviors to which trauma can make a contribution Important updates include substantive and practical information on Emotion and emotion regulation prompted by extensive contemporary research on emotion which is becoming a science unto itself Illness based on current developments in the neurobiological understanding of trauma Depression a pervasive trauma related problem that poses a number of catch 22s for recovery Various forms of self destructiveness substance abuse eating disorders and deliberate self harm all construed as coping strategies that backfire Suicidal states and self defeating aspects of personality disorders The author addresses the challenges of healing by reviewing strategies of emotion regulation as well as a wide range of sound treatment approaches He concludes with a new chapter on the foundation of all healing maintaining hope This exceptionally comprehensive overview of a wide range of traumatic experiences written in nontechnical language with extensive references to both classic and contemporary theoretical clinical and research literature offers a uniquely useful guide for victims of trauma their family members and mental health care professionals alike The Westminster Review, 1875 Syllabi of the American Society for the Extension of University Teaching American Society for the Extension of University Teaching, 1897 A Parent's Guide to Managing Childhood Grief Katie Lear, 2022-07-05 Help your child navigate feelings of sadness and loss with 100 unique activity based approaches that help them manage their childhood grief in a healthy and constructive way The loss of a loved one is a complex confusing experience for a child to understand Children may struggle to express process and manage their complicated and conflicting feelings whether the loss is a parent grandparent sibling or even a pet So what should you do to help your child process their sadness loss and frustration in a more healthy positive way In A Parent's Guide to Managing Grief you'll learn everything you need to know about how children grieve and what you can do to support them during their most difficult moments From there you'll find 100 activities that you can use in a group setting activities that you or another caregiver can do alone with your child and ways to make the most of virtual interactions to support a grieving child Explore activities like Making a scream box Playing with clay Feelings charades game Making a memory bracelet And many more It can feel difficult to connect with your child as you process your own complicated emotions surrounding loss Use these activities to help bridge the gap between you and your child and to help you both find comfort in a difficult
