Write Right Fastback Series:

Writing for Professional Publication Kenneth T. Henson, 1987 This fastback offers a plan for a disciplined writing program both for those who have never written for professional journals and for those who have had some initial success in getting published In addition to providing information needed for preparing manuscripts and suggestions for getting them accepted in journals the booklet also includes information to help writers structure a writing program that will achieve their professional goals and accelerate the rate of publishing success emphasizing the positive attitudes of confidence and determination The first two sections of the fastback address the question of why write and discuss the best time to write The third section provides a guide on how to begin writing including choosing a topic the right tools opening sentence and paragraph and manuscript length The fourth section on matters of style focuses on the elements of clarity and conciseness The fifth part supplies information concerning the placement of a manuscript with the right journal and discusses query letters refereed and nonrefereed journals writing for a research journal and the author editor relationship The final section deals with collaborating with a co author A list of resources for the prospective writer is appended MM Teaching

Writing with the Microcomputer E. Marilyn Schaeffer, 1987 Intended as a guide for elementary school teachers who want to use the computer as a writing tool in their classrooms this booklet offers an outline of practical information and techniques for introducing young children to computers in kindergarten through grade 6 The first chapter explains the process approach to writing and advocates computer use to generate student enthusiasm for writing while the second chapter discusses solving writing problems with the word processor The third chapter offers activities for the word processor as a writing tool and is subdivided as follows 1 kindergarten the process begins 2 first grade introducing a simple word processing package 3 second grade simple revision commands 4 third grade beginning to control the system 5 fourth grade a year of transition 6 fifth grade extended application and 7 sixth grade full use of the system The remaining two chapters discuss possible problems and practical solutions and how to select word processing software A brief conclusion recapitulates the ideas about the promise of microcomputers that underlie the manual and a list of references is appended NKA Resources in Education ,1993 Bowker's Law Books and Serials in Print ,1993 A Model for Teaching Writing Donovan R. Walling, 1987 Intended to help teachers understand the complexities of the writing process this pamphlet offers a model for writing conceptualized in three phases stimulus process and product The process phase is then examined from the perspectives of consciousness speed and elaboration and mental physical interaction The following implications for writing instruction are discussed 1 teachers should not make assumptions about the process characteristics of their students 2 students need to understand their own personal process characteristics 3 teachers can suggest demonstrate and model process options for students and 4 teachers can expand opportunities for students to examine others processes by structuring collaborative writing and editing activities Collaborative writing and editing are also discussed in separate sections Finally the pamphlet describes the benefits of selective correction of student writing and ways to use writing for spelling improvement A list of references and suggested resources is appended SRT Writing to Learn Across the Curriculum John W.
