Of Suffocated Hearts and Tortured Souls Valérie Orlando, 2003-01-01 A striking number of hysterical or insane female characters populate Francophone women's writing To discover why Orlando reads novels from a variety of cultures teasing out key elements of Francophone identity struggles

New Literary Voices of the Moroccan Diaspora Ieme van der Poel, 2022-09-15 The highly charged debate over Morocco's diasporic minorities in Europe has led to a growing interest in the literary production of these new Europeans This comparative study is the first to discuss together a body of texts including contemporary Judeo Moroccan literature written in French Spanish Catalan and Dutch which have never been studied as a group Faced with such a variegated field of literary production the aim of this book is not to tie individual works of literature to their national place of origin but to re conceptualize the idea of a Moroccan literature with regard to the transnational and multilingual experiences from which it arises Drawing on a wide range of theoretical insights from Fatima Mernissi's concept of female subalternity to Abdelmalek Sayad's principle of the immigrants absent history this book allows for the re evaluation of the relationship between migration and postcolonial literary studies A careful analysis of the literary techniques used in the texts under scrutiny here highlights their poetic qualities without bypassing their political relevance with regard to the intercultural relations between Morocco and Europe as they are presently unfolding across the Mediterranean and beyond

Maghrebian Mosaic Mildred P. Mortimer, 2001 When Albert Memmi published the first anthology of francophone Maghrebian literature he expressed his unhappy belief that francophone writing would quickly be eclipsed by Arabic To the contrary this volume demonstrates that the francophone writing of North Africa remains vibrant and prolific
