Contemporary Problems in International Arbitration Julian Lew, 2013-06-29 The establishment of a School of International Arbitration was a sufficiently important occurrence to have brought to London for its inaugural conference most of the world's leading experts on international arbitration. The three-day Symposium on March 25-27, 1985, sought to identify and consider the contemporary problems affecting international arbitration. It was not the aim of the Symposium to develop, propose or agree solutions to these problems, but rather to discuss the issues and alternative solutions. The success of the School will be measured in the future by its contribution through research and teaching to the development of solutions to the difficulties and uncertainties which reduce the effectiveness of international arbitration agreements and awards and the conduct of international arbitral proceedings. This book reproduces the papers presented at the Symposium, amended and varied by several contributors. It is not considered appropriate here to comment on or analyse paper by paper the ideas presented or discussions which ensued. However, it would be appropriate to make reference to specific developments in the short period since the Symposium directly relevant to the papers reproduced and the discussions which ensued. The pertinence of the subject matter selected becomes clear from these subsequent developments.

Ex Aequo et Bono as a Response to the 'Over-Judicialisation' of International Commercial Arbitration Nobumichi Teramura, 2020-05-12 Despite its many distinguished proponents over time, ex aequo et bono, the idea of deciding disputes on the basis of what an adjudicator regards as fair and equitable has failed to take hold in international commercial arbitration. ICA formalisation and fossilisation of arbitral procedure, as manifested in the increasing use of litigation-style practice, unfortunately reign instead. This bold and challenging book argues that parties to an arbitration should be more willing for their cross-border disputes to be decided, and arbitrators should be more prepared to decide those disputes in accordance with broad principles of equity and fairness rather than by strict adherence to technical rules of law. Putting forward suggestions based on extensive research and doctrinal considerations, this book invites us to confront what ICA was supposed to be, what it now is, and what it can be. In particular, Dr Teramura discusses how, by resorting to ex aequo et bono, arbitrators can construe contractual terms, including the limits, apply trade usages, deal with mandatory rules of a given forum or place of performance, minimise the cost and length of time that arbitration takes, avoid the abuse of discretion, and ensure predictable results. The book examines significant differences in the way that ex aequo et bono arbitration is understood among various state and international institutions. It attempts to identify a common core of universally accepted concepts underlying those different understandings The book argues that ex aequo et bono has the potential to reform ICA without undermining its positive aspects Along the way it discusses the implications of ex aequo et bono arbitration on the now widely used UNCITRAL Model Law on ICA It should thus appeal to lay business persons and commercial law practitioners who are looking for an economical and efficient way to solve business disputes within a globalised arbitration framework
