Geographers Elizabeth Baigent,André Reyes Novaes,2019-12-26 Women are the exclusive focus of the 38th volume of Geographers For the first time in the serial s history the entire volume is devoted to important work of distinguished female geographers amply demonstrating how these scholars professional lives enrich the discipline s history It also illustrates how reading and writing their biographies not only expands our understanding of geography s past but points to its more diverse future The collection includes biographies of Doreen Massey winner of geography s Nobel prize the prix Vautrin Lud for her remarkable contribution to geography and neighbouring disciplines which discovered the importance of space through her work Helen Wallis geographer and historian of cartography who for many years had charge of the UK s foremost collection of maps Alice Saunier Se t who applied her geographical training and formidable energy to teaching and educational reform in France Isabel Margarida Andr who lived through a turbulent political period in her native Portugal and meticulously investigated its effect on women and political geography and the many women who helped to create the UK s first Geography department the University of Oxford s School of Geography including Fanny Herbertson Nora MacMunn Marjorie Sweeting Mary Marshall Barbara Kennedy and other women geographers who are memorialised in a group article

Geographies of Practice Transfer Judith Wiemann,2022-04-13 Employing a practice theoretical approach this study centers on how German multinational enterprises transfer three selected production related training practices to their subsidiaries in emerging economies onboarding of new employees shop floor inducting of machine operators and German style dual apprenticeship training for specialized technicians Empirical findings are drawn from three research regions Greater Shanghai Area China Metropolitan Areas Mumbai Pune Bangalore India and Central Mexico Mexico In doing so this study contributes to debates about the internationalization of multinational enterprises conceptualizing internationalization through the lens of practice transfer Practice transfer is still an understudied phenomenon in economic geography while international business studies have a long standing research interest in this area This study provides a bridge between these two disciplinary fields connecting debates in economic geography on proximity distance and knowledge transfer with organization studies based research in international business studies all the while providing a unique new perspective by developing a practice theoretical approach to explain practice transfer across distance and between territories

Regional Geography Roger Minshull, 2017-07-05 There is only one region the surface of the earth on which mankind finds its home Yet although much effort is devoted by geographers towards the study of this diversified environment as a whole it has long seemed necessary by the methods of aespacial or aeregional geography to study its component parts And although nature abhors lines geographers might appear to adore them so busily do they engage themselves in delimiting on their maps allegedly significant areas called aeregions As a result every student of geography in school college of education and university has been taught read books and attempted to answer questions on regional geography The problem of region in geographic thought how it may be defined how it has developed and how it is applied has been vigorously debated within the discipline In this incisive examination of the types of regions and regional methods treated in modern geography Roger Minshull analyzes in detail the concepts of formal functional and city regions in an attempt to clarify this vexing problem In addition to sizes shapes boundaries and organization the phenomena that usually form the content of regions are delineated in an attempt to define the nature of regional geography As some regions are seen to be products of geographers minds it is suggested that certain influences especially the methods of mapping the separate topics that form the content of regions have been exaggerated Regionalism and possible alternatives to the regional method are treated and a large section of the book is devoted to the idea of the compage in which the geographer s choice of topics and method of working is much freer than in more traditional approaches
