Time For English 4 Pb:

Logic and Time K. Michalski, 2001-11-30 The subject of this study is Husserl's theory of meaning as it appears in his writings from the Logical Investigations to the Crisis of the European Sciences The first chapter focuses on Husserl's critique of psychologism and the theory of meaning that stems from it The second chapter takes its departure from the question of Husserl's attitude towards the Cartesian tradition then presents the transcendental noematic theory of meaning represented by The Idea of Phenomenology Ideas and Cartesian Meditations The third chapter deals with Husserl's interpretation of time consciousness against the background of the development of the problem of time in modern philosophy Husserl often changed his views regarding the question of meaning I have tried to understand the reasons for these changes To do this I have occasionally disturbed the chronological order of his arguments in favour of a consideration of their logical development and coherence Throughout this study but especially in the digression on consciousness and speech and the Postscript I have also attempted to bring to the fore a tension in Husserl's thought between two interpretive strategies the first I call Cartesian the other non Cartesian or hermeneutical

Bela Bartok László Somfai, 2023-12-22 This long awaited authoritative account of Bartok's compositional processes stresses the composer's position as one of the masters of Western music history and avoids a purely theoretical approach or one that emphasizes him as an enthusiast for Hungarian folk music For Bela Bartok composition often began with improvisation at the piano László Somfai maintains that Bartok composed without preconceived musical theories and refused to teach composition precisely for this reason He was not an analytical composer but a musical creator for whom intuition played a central role These conclusions are the result of Somfai's three decades of work with Bartok's oeuvre of careful analysis of some 3 600 pages of sketches drafts and autograph manuscripts and of the study of documents reflecting the development of Bartok's compositions Included as well are corrections preserved only on recordings of Bartok's performances of his own works Somfai also provides the first comprehensive catalog of every known work of Bartok published and unpublished and of all extant draft sketch and preparatory material His book will be basic to all future scholarly work on Bartok and will assist performers in clarifying the problems of Bartok notation Moreover it will be a model for future work on other major composers This long awaited authoritative account of Bartok's compositional processes stresses the composer's position as one of the masters of Western music history and avoids a purely theoretical approach or one that emphasizes him as an enthusiast for Hungarian

Leibniz's Metaphysics of Time and Space Michael Futch, 2008-04-05 Leibniz's metaphysics of space and time stands at the centre of his philosophy and is one of the high water marks in the history of the philosophy of science In this work Futch provides the first systematic and comprehensive examination of Leibniz's thought on this subject In addition to elucidating the nature of Leibniz's relationalism the book fills a lacuna in existing scholarship by examining his views on the topological structure of space and time including the unity and unboundedness of space and time It is shown that like many of his more recent counterparts Leibniz adopts a causal theory of time where temporal facts are grounded on causal facts and that his approach to time represents a precursor to non-tensed theories of time Futch then goes on to situate Leibniz's philosophy of space and time within the broader context of his idealistic metaphysics and natural theology Emphasizing the historical background of Leibniz's thought the book also places him in dialogue with contemporary philosophy of science underscoring the enduring philosophical interest of Leibniz's metaphysics of time and space
